

Von Hoffman: Mere Words Tell It All

By RICK SULLIVAN
Nicholas Von Hoffman has an opinion on just about everything — he's a newspaper columnist.

But unlike others of his distinction, he stands as the champion of the not so gentle put-down of just about everything.

Ask the Washington Post columnist to comment on any aspect of the dynamics of America and you're sure to get a verbose commentary laced with stinging witticism and concluding with a crescendo.

The white-haired journalist brought his urbane, bitter-sweet style to the Skyline

College auditorium Monday night and in an hour-long presentation told an audience of 250 all about what he thinks of the media, economics, big government, public employee strikes, gun control and his choice for president.

Of the latter, he responded to a question from a member of the audience:

"If I had a choice for president it would be me, of course. I'm sincere and dedicated. Can't you tell? After all I'm only here for the money."

Of public employee strikes, he commented:

"Of course they are very alarming. It's a quasi-insur-rectional situation. Beyond that, a lot of municipalities are in the same shape as private corporations — an intolerable debt structure. They have to cut back, and personnel are the first to be hit."

Of gun control, he remarked:

"I'm kind of for it, but I'm not really sure. It's a little late there are so many guns already around. I've heard estimates that there are between 40 million and 200 million hand guns in America."

Although the Von Hoffman fans came to the San Bruno campus to hear the syndicated columnist speak on "What Ails America," they got off-handed remarks on controversial issues and a lecture on journalism's metamorphosis.

Von Hoffman recalled that when he started work as a reporter with the Chicago Daily News he and most other reporters at that time enjoyed a "cozy relationship" with authorities.

"We would collect traffic citations over a period of a month, then lay them all on the editor's desk and tell him to take care of them through his connections," Von Hoffman said.

"We cooperated with the

Nicholas Von Hoffman

FBI and local police and got something in return," he continued.

"Those days are gone. Journalists now have developed professional standards, and, by and large, we abide by those as standards and ethics."

Von Hoffman told the audience he believes newspapers are facing a dilemma in that they can't decide what their role is.

"Newspapers generally are an institution that still remembers the time when they were the sole dissemination of news. They can't come to the realization that they have to make an adjustment, because of radio and television, to survive."

Television, Von Hoffman said, he believes, presents more information about more public figures than has ever been presented by newspapers.

"Before television," the columnist explained, "very few people ever saw an American president. Indeed, until about 1912 presidents didn't even talk publicly; they never campaigned."

"Now with TV we have politicians all over the screen. People actually make voting decisions based on news film strips and a 30-second political advertisement."

"Actually," he continued aimlessly, "the most vital part of the election is election night. That's the most exciting part, much more so than voting. All those announcers tell you all that interesting stuff about how they're voting in some Midwest county, then ask an expert for an explanation."

DINNER IS SERVED

The Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club will hold a pot luck dinner from 6-7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school hall, 80 Wellington, Daly City. Room mothers will serve as cooks. Dinner is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children 14 years and under, $5 for a family of five and 50 cents each additional child. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by phoning 755-4438 or 585-7787. Sampling the food are Kay Michon with her children, Chris and Michelle, and serving the food are Chairwoman Rosemarie Hansen and Janet Lyman.

Broadmoor Candidates Will Speak

The Broadmoor Property Owners Association will hold a candidates' night at its board meeting Thursday at 8 p.m.

Elections are coming up in both the Colma Fire Protection and the Broadmoor Police Protection Districts, which serve the Broadmoor-unincorporated Colma areas of the North County.

Leslie Balstra, Theodore Kirschner and Kenneth W. Lowe are the candidates for the Fire District position, while Dean Davenport, Roswell Hilton, J. Wayne Johnson, Peter MacMillan, and Charles Phillips are competing for two Police District vacancies in November.

The meeting will be held at the BPOA's Community Center, Washington and 87th Streets.

Guadalupe Flu Clinics For Seniors

Additional flu clinics have been planned in October for senior citizens 60 and over who missed the September series of clinics.

The clinics are also open to any resident who suffers from chronic heart and lung ailments.

Dr. James Bodie, director of the public health division, urges all seniors to take advantage of these clinics before the flu season.

Guadalupe Health center, 75 Wellington, Daly City, will offer shots Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 9-10 a.m., through Oct. 15.

There is a fee of $1 for all clinics and those allergic to eggs should not receive the shot.

Night Animal Control Officer Planned in DC

Daly City soon will have an animal control officer patrolling streets at night.

"This will add a second shift exclusively in Daly City, unless a dog runs into Broadmoor," quipped City Manager David Rowe in announcing the new schedule at the Daly City City Council study session Monday night.

Rowe said the proposed agreement, which the council is expected to approve at its regular meeting Monday, includes the purchase of an animal control vehicle and other equipment by the city.

According to the agreement, the city is using $16,233 in federal revenue-sharing funds to provide the additional equipment and services.

The Peninsula Humane

manpower for the 3 p.m. to midnight, five-day-a-week shift. A regular day shift, which is shared with Colma and Broadmoor, will continue also. The new service, which runs for a year under the agreement, is scheduled to begin Oct. 15.

Other agreements the council is expected to approve at the Monday meeting include:

- Hiring of KCA Engineers, Inc., to prepare drawings, specifications and estimates of cost, and give architectural and engineering coordination, for construction of the Gellert Park Recreation Building at 50

Wemberly Drive for a fixed fee of $10,400.

- Allocating $35,000 in revenue-sharing funds for the operation of Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center, to continue health care services to Daly City residents through June 30, 1976.

- Appropriating about $74,000 in various federal funds for operation of the Daly City Community for Children's Services child care program through June 30, 1976.

- Renewing a lease for a two-year period on a city parking lot 7322, 7324 and 7330 Mission Street at an annual cost of $1,200.

BART Parking Fee Increase?

Daly City councilmen are contemplating a 50 cent a day parking fee for automobiles utilizing the Belle Avenue parking lot adjacent to the BART station.

In a study session Monday night, City Manager David Rowe recommended a resolution be drafted setting the fee and authorizing the city to issue permits on a first come-first served basis.

The resolution, said Rowe, also will allow the police department to tow away non permit vehicles parked in the lot, which was recently leased by the city.

Plans by the City of San Francisco to construct new parking facilities at the Daly City BART terminal necessitated this action on the part of Daly City officials, said Rowe.

Construction of a new parking terminal is expected to take up to a year and the construction site, which until last week held upwards of 300 vehicles, has been roped off.

According to a report by Rowe, the city is leasing the Belle Avenue parking lot for $14,400 annually and is planning to spend another $16,751 to improve it.

Rowe said there will be 250 spaces. He's recommending that permits be issued for only 245 of them and expects to receive (at 50 cents a day per vehicle) an estimated $30,380 on maximum use for a year.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis said he wanted to review the situation after one year to determine whether the city has made a profit.

If so, he said, he wants to cut the price of parking accordingly, to cover only the expenses involved in operating the lot. "That's something we'll insist BART does also," said Kyriakis.

Rowe said the city is hoping to have the lot available for use by Oct. 16.

4 Murder Trials Set County Record

A record number of four murder trials was underway in Redwood City this week.

Never before have there been so many murder trials going at one time in San Mateo County. A fifth murder trial is scheduled to begin next Monday.

The trial of Lawrence T. Hall, 55, of San Carlos, and Russell L. Wise, 29, of Redwood City, accused of the shooting death of San Carlos quarry owner C. J. "Jack" Wood last Feb. 7, began before Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley, with arguing of motions by Deputy Dist. Atty. John O'Leary and defense attorneys Gordon Rockhill and Lewis Johnson.

Selection of a jury to hear the trial is not scheduled to begin until Tuesday.

Jury selection began today in two other murder cases. Richard Post, 28, a San Bruno computer programmer, is being tried in the court of Judge Lyle R. Edson for the murder and kidnap-ing of Ruth Wilhelmsen, 21, last July in Daly City.

Helen Valencia, 54, of Daly City, is on trial before Superior Court Judge G. Brooks Lee, charged with the shooting death of her ex-husband, Ruben Mendoza, last March 1.

The murder-robbery trial of Donald C. Wimberly, 22, of Oakland, accused of slaying Michael Ralston, 24, of San Carlos, last May 28, began last week before a jury in the court of Judge Gerald E. Ragan.

The district attorney's office is seeking the death penalty in all but the Valencia case.

Scheduled to begin next Monday is the trial of Hershel "Terry" Tucey, 32, of East Palo Alto, who is accused of murder in the death of Marie Schulz, 42, of Redwood City. Last April, Mrs. Schulz was killed with a blunt instrument. The prosecution intends to seek the death penalty in the case.

Jail Costs for Patty Go to U.S. Marshal

The costs of keeping newspaper heiress Patty Hearst in custody at the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City will be billed to the United States Marshal's office, according to Asst. Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart.

Although the normal cost of keeping a prisoner for an outside agency is $20 a day, Stewart said because of the need for extra security and the overtime pay for sheriff's deputies to control crowds of the curious and members of the press from throughout the nation, the figure for keeping Miss Hearst is expected to far exceed this figure. He refused to speculate how much the federal government will be billed, however. The accounting office is now computing the extra costs and the days of confinement, he said.

Doctors

These trends are going to push doctors away from government work," Taylor says.

Taylor and his staff have produced documents which purport to show how much a physician will have to increase his patient fees if he is to simply maintain his current yearly gross income.

Perhaps the most striking case of all in that chart involves a Class IV physician making $50,000 a year.

If that doctor's practice involves 30 per cent government-funded patients, he will have to raise his bills by 49 per cent to stay even.

Other physicians will be hit hard by the price hikes too.

For example, the Taylor chart states that a general practitioner making $100,000 a year and having a practice which is 20 per cent government-funded will have to raise his rates by only 9 1/2 per cent.

Still, the overall county impact is going to be considerable.

Says Taylor, "We might lose 5 to 10 per cent of our doctors here."

Local hospitals, faced with malpractice insurance price increases of their own, are mandating that physicians who practice on their premises must have malpractice insurance of their own.

Although the insurance carrier, Walker and Co. of Los Angeles, has offered hospitals an add-on premium to accommodate anticipated extra costs for physicians who don't carry malpractice insurance (the cost would be 20 per cent more than the new rates), most hospitals are choosing to force their physicians to carry their own insurance.

"This has the potential of splitting the hospitals and their medical staffs," says Taylor.

"It's a terrible situation" offers

Richard Daniels, administrator of Sequoia Hospital in Redwood City.

At the Stanford University Hospital in Palo Alto, 50 physicians on the staff have been suspended for not carrying adequate malpractice insurance.

If Stanford were to utilize the 20 per cent add-on fee to further insure itself, it would have cost the hospital an extra $400,000.

Stanford's total malpractice bill is $2.4 million as of Nov. 1.

Here in this county, the four large private hospitals Mary's Help in Daly City, Mills Memorial in San Mateo, Peninsula in Burlingame and Sequoia will be paying a total of about $2 million for malpractice coverage as of Nov. 1.

In most cases, the increases over the previous year come to close to 100 per cent.

In all, the increases total about $1 million.

Combined with the increases experienced by the physicians, the total county bill for malpractice coverage increases will come to about $7 million on Nov. 1.

The situation has become so critical that local physicians are preparing to form their own insurance group, called Northern California Mutual.

Twenty-three Northern California counties will be involved in the new corporation.

San Mateo County will be one of those.

When the company begins to function, rates for malpractice may be a bit lower than Travelers' rates even at the start, when capital costs are high, Taylor says. Travelers is cooperating by guaranteeing the new group's initial efforts.

"The medical profession has no desire to get into the insurance business, but we've had no choice," says Taylor. "There's no competition."

"And it is fully expected that Travelers will be getting out of the malpractice insurance business in California as soon as possible."

"Our contract with them has 2 1/2 years left to run," points out Taylor. He cites the case of Arizona to back up his belief that Travelers will leave the field entirely then.

"When Travelers five-year contract in Arizona expired, they didn't renew."

Ironically, the ballyhoo surrounding the signing of ABIXX, the bill which was going to set things straight in malpractice in this state, was both ill-timed and without sufficient foundation.

That bill, good as far as it goes, does not bear directly on malpractice insurance costs today.

It could have an effect in the future, however.

That bill does include provisions which:

- Place a new three-year statute of limitations on most malpractice cases.
- Set some limits on the size of certain settlements.
- Allow for arbitration in some cases.
- Set a sliding contingency fee schedule for lawyers.
- Improve licensing boards and the overall monitoring of health care quality.

Perversion Suspect Charged

A 22-year-old San Bruno man was charged last week with two counts of lewd and lascivious acts on the body of a child and two counts of sex perversion.

John Winnfield Breen, of 505 Sylvan Ave., was arraigned Wednesday in North San Mateo County Municipal Court.

San Bruno police questioned Breen last Friday in connection with alleged acts of sex perversion involving two young girls.

Police did not arrest Breen after questioning, but instead forwarded the case to the district attorney's office in South San Francisco.

Charges were filed, and Blake said, Breen surrendered himself to authorities.

He was released on his own recognizance.

Of Severeid, Von Hoffman commented: "I studied his script for the longest period. I had no idea what he was trying to say. I listen to him now and have no idea what he is saying, but he's beautiful on the air, he with his white hair."

Asked if he was fired from his spot on 60 Minutes, a weekly television news magazine program produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System, because of a comment he made about Richard Nixon, Von Hoffman replied, "Well, put it this way: it didn't help matters much."

He repeated the comment, made in the last month of the Nixon presidency during a debate on "60 Minutes" with conservative columnist James Kilpatrick.

"Jim, Nixon now is only a mouse on America's kitchen floor, with everybody around arguing over who's going to pick him up by the tail and throw him out."

Promoting Fire Safety

By BOB PETERSON

The flames just seemed to appear, and lit up the youngster's clothes. He didn't hesitate; immediately, he was on the ground, rolling.

This is not an actual situation. Its intent is to point up the simple, yet life-giving fact, that by keeping calm and applying certain rules, youngsters (or anyone else) need not suffer severe burns or die in a fire.

In this hypothetical situation, the youngster's instinct to drop and roll made the difference between living and dying, between escaping with a minor injury or suffering the deep, painful and slow-healing burns that can destroy limbs, damage eyesight and leave disfiguring scars.

Some 12 thousand persons die each year in this country because of fire; many are children. There undoubtedly are many measures that can be taken to lower this death rate. The most important may be the simple matter of educating people about fire.

Promoting this belief, the National Fire Protection Association has selected "Learn Not to Burn" as its theme for Fire Prevention Week, 1975.

And the South San Francisco Unified School District, with the impetuous of substitute teacher Kathy Fuller and the aid of members of the South San Francisco Fire Department, has put that theme into an action program.

Ms. Fuller, also a member of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's Fire Prevention Committee, has assembled a fire prevention education package being implemented this fall in the elementary schools of the district.

The special curriculum incorporates audio and visual materials, filmstrips (including Smokey, the Bear), field trips to fire stations, books, lesson plans and tests to determine a child's knowledge of fire and its dangers.

There are worksheets and crossword puzzles utilizing fire safety related features. And the introduction of a new character — Mr. Match.

This training aid, created by John Cavoretto, a graphic designer, who is Ms. Fuller's cousin, is in the form of Mr. Match Coloring Book and Mr. Match Home Checklist. It was conceived a year ago.

The pilot program for this new curriculum was tested at Los Cerritos Elementary School. It proved "highly successful" and played an integral role in determining the direction of the newly instituted program.

It was while doing graduate work at San Francisco State in a health education class that the 23-year-old Ms. Fuller began the project.

"There just wasn't anything put out to aid a teacher in this area," she said. And since her course required students to do projects, she decided to try to put together an appropriate teaching manual.

"I received an awful lot of help from the fire department," she said. "The children and the parents (at Los Cerritos) really supported it. Their response was fantastic," she said.

Ms. Fuller said she is now working through an organization at San Jose City College in an attempt to get the program implemented on a state-wide basis.

In addition, she said, the Mr. Match books are copyrighted and "in the hands of a publisher."

The technical aspects of the program was evaluated by the fire department. "She did a lot of hard work," said the fire department's Jack Drago.

Poisoned Picnickers Recovering

Most of the 30 persons stricken with food poisoning during a picnic at Coyote Point Park Sunday have fully recuperated and have been released from local hospitals.

Only two persons remained under hospital care Tuesday and both were reported in satisfactory condition.

Meanwhile officials from the County Health Division are examining food samples from the picnic and "vomitus" — or the vomit from the victim's stomachs which was collected at the hospitals.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss — but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair — now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Dealership Closes

An Alameda County Superior Court judge has issued a writ of possession to Ford Motor Credit, allowing the company to claim cars and other assets at Turner Motors in San Bruno.

Ford Motor Credit provides financing of automobiles and other assets for Ford dealerships.

The writ of possession was granted Sept. 24, then given a five-day stay of execution, according to court officials.

Last week, Turner Motors closed, and it was learned that the Ford Credit office in Hayward ordered all the locks changed on all buildings at the Turner Complex.

Turner Motors' General Manager Don Johnson was unavailable for comment, and no one from Ford Motor Credit would detail why the dealership was closed.

Tom Horner, Ford Credit branch manager would only say that "the dealership went out of business," and that "Ford would take an active role in looking for a new dealer."

Ira Kleinman, one of the attorneys for Ford Credit, however, explained a writ of possession. He said that when a writ is granted, a creditor can claim assets after it is established that the debtor did not perform according to the terms of a security agreement.

Kleinman said he was not directly involved in the Ford Credit litigation, and therefore, could not comment on exactly why the dealership closed.

Kleinman did add, "The parties (Ford Credit and Turner Motors) are involved in sensitive negotiations."

Turner Motors, 601 El Camino Real, has been located in San Bruno since 1946, when the owner was G. R. Turner.

According to City Hall records, the current owner is Elmer Critchlow.

Critchlow also could not be reached for comment.

DC Fire Kills 2 Dogs

Two dogs died from smoke inhalation when a Daly City house caught fire Friday.

The Fire Department estimates there was $7,500 damage to the house at 1161 Hanover St. and $800 damage to the contents.

Fireman Charles Jenkins said a young woman, Cynthia Rogers, was in the process of moving into the house when the fire occurred at 8:20 a.m.

Two fire engines from Daly City and one from San Francisco doused the flames for about 30 minutes.

They had feared someone was in the house but later determined only the dogs were caught in the fire.

Jenkins said it's believed the fire was caused by clothing left on a floor furnace.

Just one year ago, Redbook, a monthly periodical for young women, published a questionnaire entitled, "How Do You Really Feel About Sex?"

It included 60 questions dealing explicitly with sexual attitudes, values and practices.

Since more than 100,000 women replied, Redbook is calling its report "The most important survey of female sexuality since Kinsey."

In making the report for Redbook, Robert J. and Amy Levin reveal that 90 per cent of the women under 25 who participated in the survey stated that they have had premarital intercourse. This represents a 57 per cent increase since 1953, when The Kinsey Report was published.

IN ALL AGE groups, strongly religious women are more likely to refrain from premarital sex; however among the women who are under 25 who indicated that they are strongly religious, 75 out of 100 reported that they have indulged in sex before marriage.

Redbook data offers impressive evidence in support of the view that sex is a very important part of the life of married women. Figures cited show that among married women of all ages, seven out of 10 who could be called happily married enjoy good or very good sexual relations with their husbands. Speaking for many, one housewife reported that having children in the house curtailed her natural desires.

PERHAPS the figures regarding the ways that women seek sexual pleasure are the most surprising portion of the Redbook Report. Indeed, it is strange that a woman could write about things so intimate, yet the data is in the Redbook report and indicates, therefore, that America's attitudes regarding sex has radically changed in the last few years.

The survey learned that 30 out of every 100 women who answered the questionnaire acknowledged having had sex after smoking marijuana, with 45 per cent stating that they often combine the weed and sex. Almost half of the 18 to 25 group said they have tried the drug.

The authors of the Redbook article warn their readers that the figures they cite are simply statistical abstractions and are not to be translated into what is right or normal.

They write, "Each individual couple strikes a balance in sex that best satisfies the needs of wife and husband alike, reconciling the differences between them in the best way they know how. That balance, and not any statistical average, represent the most fulfilling relationship."

THE REDBOOK report appears in the September and October issues. Already, it has become the subject of considerable criticism.

Yet, those readers who feel that it is a valuable contribution to the understanding of Americans agree with Professor Robert R. Bell of Temple University who wrote, "This article is a careful discussion of some of the key findings and should be of interest and value both to Redbook readers and any professional concerned with the study of human sexuality or treatment of sexual problems."

Students Return From 3 Weeks Backpacking Trip

By KATHERINE MILANI
Correspondent

Serramonte High School's weary but skillful Community Environmental Education class returned from their two-week backpacking trip Sept. 27.

The group of 32 students planned their first trip of the year the first week of school, and set their departure date for Sept. 13. That Saturday morning the group was packed and ready to set foot in the boundless John Muir Wilderness.

"Abe" Evenich, Wilderness School and Community Environmental Education adviser at Serramonte, led the students through 80 miles of beautiful California forest and mountains, and the well-known Pioneer Basin.

The students were only allowed to carry 50 pounds of equipment in their packs.

The trip included writing in personal journals, identifying constellations, learning camping and survival techniques, rock climbing and repelling, map making, compass usage, and the ever-so-easily-said-than-done "getting along with each other."

The highlight of their trip was climbing the towering 13,000 foot Mono Peak in one day.

Each student spent two of the 14 days completely alone, using knowledge they gathered from the trip for their own practical survival. Their time was mostly spent thinking about the purpose of the trip and how they could personally broaden their feeling for themselves and others.

Cathy Weiss, 17-year-old publicity chairwoman and member of the Community Environmental Education group, stressed that this certain trip was "a tremendous experience for getting to know one another and one's self."

The students show a deep appreciation for what this trip had demonstrated for them and they are planning more trips like this one for the future.

SERRAMONTE HIGH School will extend "Club Week" through to Oct. 10.

During the school's two lunch hours, various clubs will be displaying booths representing the activities carried on in their club.

All students interested in meeting new people and participating in new activities are welcome to sign up and attend the first two or three meetings and help plan that club's schedule for the coming year.

Serramonte students are urged to join a club and broaden their school spirit and increase their interest in the campus.

"COLLEGE NIGHT" will be held 8 o'clock tonight in the Little Theater.

All college-bound students and their parents are urged to attend this meeting designed especially for them.

Various guest speakers will appear representing local community colleges, state colleges and universities, and private universities.

The topics that will be covered will range from requirements for entrances, special programs of study, approximate costs of classes, and scholarships and financial aid programs.

Ballet Directors Jefferson High Senior Hold Pot Luck Commended for Scores

The Daly City Civic Ballet Board of Directors, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, recently held their annual Pot Luck Dinner at the Westlake Community Center. Tables filled with chicken, hot dishes, salads, relishes and bread were served to more than 200 guests.

Miss Diane Roberts, company director, installed the newly elected Board of Directors which included President Mrs. Virginia Frenkel, Vice President Mrs. Shirley Abruzzo, Recording Secretary-Historian Mrs. Marie Brizuela, Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Elaine Miller, Treasurer Mrs. Tina Bianchini, Assistant Treasurer Mrs. Lillian Rigoni, Wardrobe Mistress Mrs. Mary Tschirgi, and Board Member Mrs. Diana Correa.

Junior and Senior Civic Ballet members presented a sneak preview of the Winter Ballet under the direction of Miss Roberts.

Cake and coffee were served and door prizes awarded to guests.

A senior at Jefferson High School has been named a commended student in the Merit Program by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

Principal Robert Bush announced that Ralph Edwin Hill has received a Letter of Commendation.

This student is among the 35,000 commended students named nationwide on the basis of their high performance on the 1974 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT).

Commended students represent less than 2 per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1976.

Although commended students ranked high on the PSAT/NMSQT, they do not continue in the Merit Scholarship competition because their scores were just below those of the 15,000 semifinalists publicly announced by NMSC in September.

3 Rabies Vaccinations Clinics Set for Pets

Is your pet protected against rabies?

The San Mateo County Department of Health and Welfare, with the cooperation of the Peninsula Veterinary Medical Association, is again conducting a rabies vaccination clinic for dogs and cats Oct. 19 from 1-3 p.m.

All dogs four months and older should be vaccinated against rabies and the shot should be repeated every two years.

Fee for the shot will be $3.

Animals brought to the clinics must be under full control of the owner.

Young children should not be allowed to bring their pets to the clinics unless they are able to control them.

Pet owners need to keep their receipts for verification, since the metal rabies tag is no longer issued.

Clinics will be in Pacifica at Linda Mar rest area, Highway 1; in Daly City at Westlake Community center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd.; and in South San Francisco.

GIRL SCOUTING

Today, Daly City Girl Scout Association troop committee members and troop finance chairmen will meet from 1-3 p.m. at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 - 87th St. in Daly City in the social hall.

Association Chairwoman for Finance Mrs. Margaret Kachur reminds everyone that every troop should send at least one representative to this meeting if they have not met with her previously.

CADETTE and Senior Girl Scouts may swim Thursday from 7-9 p.m. at the Jefferson High School pool.

Green Girl Scout permission slips are required.

TRAINING for Brownie and Junior leadership continues Tuesday evening Oct. 14 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the activity room at St. Andrews Roman Catholic Church, 1 Ridgefield Ave., Daly City.

THE ANCIENT MARINER Cruise-in, an annual Sea Scout-sponsored event in which Mariner and Sea Scout ships from the greater Bay Area participate, was held recently.

The ships or troops could either sail to Angel Island on their own ships or take the ferry according to Marian Fitzpatrick of Colma Mariner Ship 13, skippered by Mrs. Margaret Damon.

Enjoying the all-day picnic followed by a barbecue and dance, were local Mariner Scouts Patty Byrne, Sue Dahlin, Ellen and Diane Ridge, Leana Medina, Kim Gustofson, Seona Connelly, Jeanne Hulse, Lori Bishop, Mary Pat and Theresa Clark, Janice Hale and Miss Fitzpatrick.

Young adults Pat Romelfanger, Denise Lapachet and Laura Ridge accompanied the Scouts.

ATTENDING "We've Come a Long Way, Daisy," the recent welcome back luncheon of the Daly City Girl Scout Association, were volunteer adults Margaret Damon, Dale O'Connor, Louise Courpet and Nancy Walters.

Trish Sullivan, Sue Freitas, Carole Ann Scott, Louise Rainey, Irene Flores, Diane Panyburn, Karen Rodgers, Bunne Pardini, Joan Stewart, Lynda Stoepelwerth, Eleanor Giusti, Ida Gorbebeck, Sally Raeta, Dolores Riggs, Barbara Rushton, Caroline Futrell and Roz Morino were welcomed by Association Chairwoman Mrs. Margaret Connolly and professional staff members Janice Pettey and Pam VonWiegand.

NOTICE
Thursday is the deadline for submission of material for consideration for publication in The Post.

Catholic Club Meets Sunday

The Westlake Catholic Women of Our Lady of Mercy Parish will hold their meeting in the church hall immediately following devotions to Our Lady of Perpetual Help at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Sister Veronica, principal of Our Lady of Mercy School, will comment on the school year's curriculum.

Reports will be given on "Luncheon Is Served" and "Italian Nite."

Mrs. John Kachur, chairwoman of "The Day at the Races," will have tickets on sale at the meeting.

Have had "inside" word that there is still space available for a few more students in the swimming classes being sponsored by the Red Cross in that new pool at Westmoor High School!

Evidently, information about the classes, available for everyone 6 years old through senior citizens, has been slow to travel through the community and space remains available in almost all sessions.

The price: only $5 for residents of Daly City-Colma and $7 for non-residents.

Information is available at the pool on Saturday mornings. Learn about lessons or you may want to learn more about the recreation swimming and lap swimming.

GIRL SCOUT swimming continues in October at the Jefferson High School pool. Cadettes and seniors will be swimming tomorrow night, with Brownies scheduled to enjoy the pool on Oct. 16. Juniors will be splashing across the pool on Oct. 23.

It is one of the bonuses of scouting that the swimming is free and girls need only to take their green Girl Scout permission slip to be admitted.

Girls in the scouting program have many experiences and are able to learn about several subjects because the district provides excellent training to those who lead the troops. Training in the Brownie and Junior programs will continue on Tuesday with an evening session at St. Andrews building, 1 Ridgefield Ave. in the St. Francis Heights area.

Mrs. Virginia Rusting is the coordinator for the session.

PLAN TO DO a little shopping for your garden this weekend at the garden bazaar being sponsored by the Daly City Garden Club.

Mrs. Caroline Alba, the publicity chairman, called to say that gardening enthusiasts will have an excellent opportunity to purchase their spring bulbs, seeds and plants while they aid the club's philanthropic program.

Mrs. Grace Cannova, bazaar chairman, has arranged for a pine decorated booth in the mall of the Serramonte Shopping Center and club members will be on hand to sell house plants, including lovely African violets, redwood seeds and many types of bulbs as well as offer advice to novices who plan to "do something" with their yards.

The club president, Louis Pilarski, is hoping that the bazaar will make enough profit to help the club finance another Penny Pines Plantation in the Sierras. To date, the local club has bought five such plantations.

Bazaar hours will be from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday and from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

TUNING UP the instruments and checking their beat are members of Rich Landi's band. The group is scheduled to provide the polkas and folk music — as well as modern dance tunes — for the Italian Night dinner dance this Friday evening.

Mrs. John Pappas and John Zuffo are the chairmen of the event which is being sponsored by the Our Lady of Mercy Parish.

Tickets, costing $7 per couple, are available from Mrs. John Willden, 755-9353, or Mrs. Joseph Potter 992-3262.

SATURDAY evening, the Bicentennial will be the theme for the welcome dance and buffet being sponsored by the Riordan Guild and the Riordan Men's Club.

"A Bicentennial Celebration" will begin at 9 p.m. in Chaminade Hall on the campus of Riordan High School, 175 Phelan Ave., San Francisco.

Parents and friends of the school are invited to enjoy the music of Maury Wolohan and his orchestra and dine at midnight.

Tickets, costing $3 per person, are available to those calling Mrs. William Feely, 755-7321 or Mrs. Joseph Dovichii, 756-0065.

FLEA MARKET enthusiasts will be pleased to know of special bonus available to anyone purchasing a ticket to the Sierra District Boy Scouts' flea market, Sunday at 10 a.m. in the yard of A. P. Giannini Jr. High School, San Francisco.

Eleven schools in Daly City sponsor troops which are incorporated in the Serra District and it is hoped that locals will support these Daly City units by shopping at the flea market between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Tickets are being sold by Serra District scouts for 50 cents each and, following the flea market, the tickets are worth $1 off the price of any pizza at Shakey's Pizza.

DON'T FORGET the Ladies League luncheon tomorrow afternoon at Lakeside Presbyterian Church in San Francisco. Call the church office today, 564-8833, to reserve your $2 ticket.

MRS. WILLIAM Holland of the community of St. Andrew urges individuals interested in the adult education program at St. Andrews to note that there are two new classes beginning later this month.

On Oct. 28, Frank Klung will begin a four-week workshop on communications.

The sessions will be held in the new St. Andrews' Community Center between 8 and 9:30 p.m. The goal will be to help adults become more aware of the communication problems of teenagers.

On Oct. 30, "Celebrate Life: — Focus on Women" will begin a three-week series in the Center.

Discussion, films and sound collage will be used to help explore women's situation in society.

For more information about classes in this series contact Sister Irmalyn Benkert, the Education Director for The Community by calling 756-3222.

Oktoberfest Saturday at Hope Lutheran Church

Hope Lutheran Church, noted for its annual Oktoberfest, will present this year's festival Saturday at 55 San Fernando Way from 11-9 p.m. Dinner will be served from 4-7 p.m. and will include traditional favorites sausage and sauerkraut, red cabbage, hot potato salad, dark bread and apple kuchen. Hamburger steak, mashed potatoes and cole slaw also will be offered. Dinner tickets will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for children. A hot dog stand will be open all day and free coffee and tea will be available. Horseshoes, Ping-Pong and pool tournaments will begin at 1 p.m. Individual games may be played before and after the tournaments.

The Emporium

All women are not created equal.
Some have straight hair. That's why Ondula® II Perm was created by Fermodyl

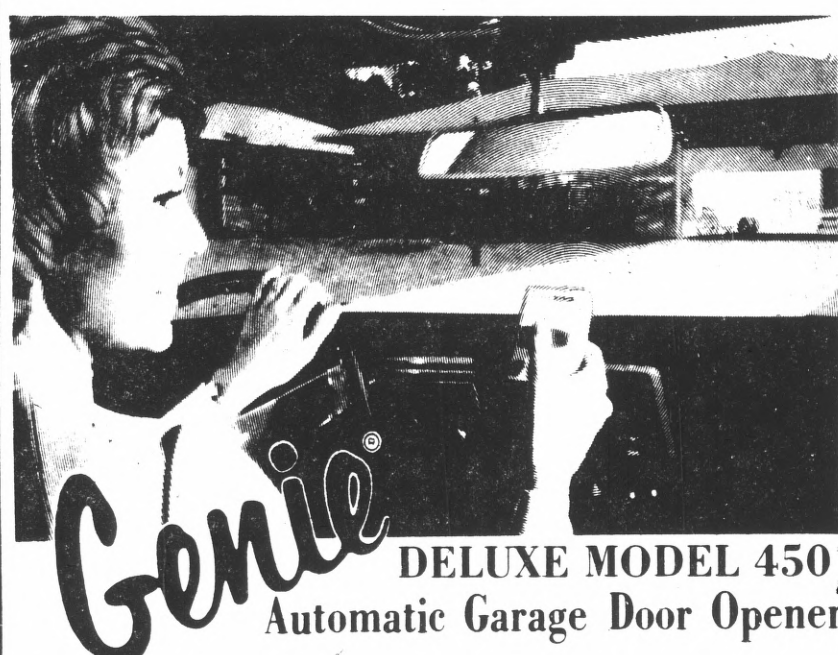

Because Fermodyl people are always interested in the health of your hair, they created Ondula II. It's the newest result of extensive perm research and testing, it's perfect for delicate, tinted or natural hair. It leaves your hair shining, manageable, soft to the touch and fragrant, too. Whether it's curls, body or waves you want, you'll love Ondula II 25.00

Bill Gile, our Fermodyl guest, will tell you and show you how this unusual new permanent wave works. Meet him Thursday and Friday, October 9-10 in the Beauty Salon.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

When we decide to whip-up a casserole with canned fish as the main ingredient, we usually think of using tuna. Somehow salmon seems to be reserved for salads or croquettes. Canned salmon makes a delightful casserole, as the following recipe shows.

SALMON NOODLE CASSEROLE

- 1 1-pound can salmon
- 2 cups medium white sauce
- 1 small package egg noodles
- 1/2 cup cracker or bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Salt and pepper

Drain and flake the canned salmon. Add the flaked salmon to the white sauce. Cook the noodles in boiling water as directed on the package. Drain and pour noodles into a buttered casserole dish. Cover with the creamed salmon. Add salt and pepper. Sprinkle with the half cup bread crumbs and dot with the two tablespoons butter.

Bake in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes or until bubbly hot and the crumbs are nicely browned.

MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Melt the two tablespoons butter in small saucepan. Blend in the two tablespoons flour until smooth. Gradually add the one cup milk, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer; add the fourth teaspoon salt and eighth teaspoon pepper and blend.

While the oven is hot, why not bake this dessert? It is simple to make, using instant pudding, dates and raisin bran cereal as its main ingredients.

DATE BRAN BUTTERSCOTCH BARS

- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- 1/3 cup water
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- Combine the half cup dates, one-third cup water, fourth cup brown sugar and two teaspoons lemon juice in a small saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally until mixture thickens. Cool.
- 2/3 cup shortening
- 1 egg
- 1 package (3 1/2 oz.) butterscotch instant pudding and pie filling
- 1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup bran flakes with sugar-coated raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

While the date mixture is cooling, cream the two-third cup shortening. Add the egg and pudding mix. Beat until light and fluffy. Mix the half cup flour with the half teaspoon soda, fourth teaspoon salt and half teaspoon cinnamon. Stir into egg mixture.

Add the one cup bran flakes and half cup nuts and mix until well blended. Spread half the mixture in the bottom of a greased 8-inch square pan. Cover with the date mixture.

Top with remaining pudding mixture. Spread evenly over surface. Bake at 375-degrees for about 25 minutes or until nicely brown. Cool and cut into 12 portions.

Serve topped with whipped cream, ice cream, or prepared whipped topping if desired.

Presidency Topic for LWV Meeting

The U.S. Presidency will be the topic of discussion at the next League of Women Voters' meeting Oct. 14 at 12:30 p.m. at St. Martin's Church, 777 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

Points open for discussion include the 25th amendment and presidential succession, executive agreements and the war, emergency and fiscal policy powers of the executive branch.

A brief review of the above points will be presented by several members of the local league who have done the research of the presidential study.

A consensus on the presidency will be taken at the next meeting on Oct. 28.

Following this, consensus from all local leagues will be compiled for a national consensus on the presidency.

The public is welcome to all league meetings.

IT'S YOUR MONEY

Q. My mother is getting supplemental security income payments. I know she has to report any change in her income and resources, but are there other things she should report to social security?

A. Yes. If your mother moves, she should report her change of address to a social security office and to the post office to be sure that she gets her checks at her new address. Other changes which must be reported to social security include: information on changes to report, ask at any social security office.

Answers provided by Miss Margaret Tang, Manager Social Security Office.

Fair Launches '76 Planning

Total attendance at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds in San Mateo was up nearly 64,000 over the previous year, fair manager Sal Millan told a blue-ribbon critique session meeting in the Fair's Garden Restaurant Tuesday night.

Millan told the session, called to critique the 1975 fair and to plan the 1976 bicentennial fair, audit statistics indicate the most successful year ever.

Total attendance at the grounds, including a 200,631 attendance at the 1975 fair, came to 559,434, as against 495,489 in 1974, he said.

Millan announced a number of fair management proposals for the bicentennial observance in the 1975 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta. They included:

Landscaping in the bicentennial theme, with new plantings added in the fairgrounds.

Bicentennial planting along Delaware Street on both sides.

Free exchange of plants, trees and flowers with cities from the 13 original colonies.

Pageantry and other special events presented by each city in the county.

Historical exhibits from sister cities, both national and international.

Conversion of the Community Building by the County Bicentennial Committee into a total Colonial Village.

The Hall of Flowers to feature parallel gardens from the original 13 colonies and California.

Promotional tie-in with major firms featuring bicentennial products and special events.

Historical booths in each building.

Total fairgrounds decoration in California and bicentennial colors.

Exhibits and observance of their special days by all cities.

Revival of colonial contests, games, sports events and competitions.

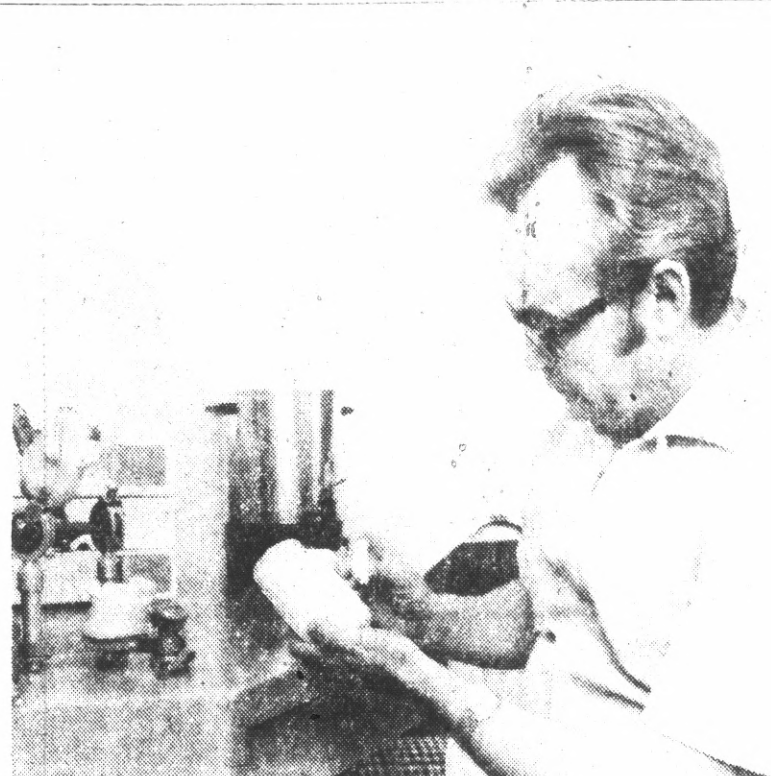

The critique session was unique in that members of the San Mateo County Bicentennial Committee sat in on both the general and the fair departmental sessions to help develop next year's fair following the bicentennial theme. That swelled attendance to close to 100.

The result was a number of innovations which may be seen next year.

A floral arts leader announced that the traditional ladies hat day will be eliminated, to be replaced by a "Bicentennial Day," with the ladies to wear colonial costumes and carry small nosegays denoting prizes for best floriculture.

County Volunteers Aid Coroner

Dental Team Is California's First

By DUANE SANDUL

The plane crashed, and 96 persons were killed. Most of the bodies were scarred beyond recognition.

It's a sobering thought, but always a possibility. What if it — or some other civil disaster — happened in San Mateo County? How would the bodies be identified?

Working in the background for more than a year now has been a team of county dentists who have formed forensic odontology teams in conjunction with the coroner's office.

If the plane crash occurred in San Mateo County, dental charts of the plane's passengers could be flown to this county, where local dentists could make matches for purposes of identification.

Forensic dentistry is the application of dental knowledge to purposes of law. It's a way to determine identity.

The man behind the San Mateo County effort — the first of its kind in the state — is Dr. John W. Beckstead of San Mateo.

Recognizing the potential of a disaster — and the resultant difficulty in making identifications of victims — Dr. Beckstead spearheaded in early 1974 a drive among the San Mateo County Dental Association for volunteers.

During an interview Wednesday, he, Dr. Earl A. Lewis and Dr. Williams Giles explained the program — and what's on the horizon.

The call for volunteers resulted in about 27 dentists who have regularly donated dozens of hours to become further trained in the field.

At present, seven three-dentist teams are on-call for the San Mateo County coroner's office. They have made more than 20 identifications through dental charts and comparisons of many homicide, drowning and fire victims in San Mateo County since May of 1974. Many of the identifications may not have been made without the dental information.

The "teams" of dentists each have completed training with the coroner's office. Each is a deputized coroner.

Every dentist in the program has participated in one or more post-mortem dental examinations at the county morgue, and each has performed one practical case in a local forensic science center within the last six months.

On a Bay Area level, Dr. Beckstead said that there's a likelihood of a nine-county grant by the National Institute of Health to establish a centralized, computerized bank containing information on missing persons and information on dental records and other parts of the body.

The system for recording the information will assist in the identification of formerly-unidentifiable bodies.

For example, even a leg which washes up on a beach could be identified if the "bank" contained sufficient information. For instance, if the leg had a scar, or a tattoo, authorities could identify it if information of missing persons contained a description of a leg scar or tattoo.

The dental comparison is more accurate than fingerprints, according to Dr. Lewis.

He is pushing for state legislation which would compel the filing of dental charts with missing persons reports.

Dr. Beckstead has made numerous dental chart-identification identifications of persons, including some of the victims of mass killer Edmund Kemper of Santa Cruz.

Giles, Beckstead and Lewis each noted that the role of dentistry in the investigation of major criminal activity and civil disasters is just beginning to be recognized.

What hurts the effort, Dr. Lewis said, is the lack of good dental records. "It is imperative that dentists keep good records," he added.

"No two people have the same dentition (the character of teeth as determined by their form and arrangement)," Dr. Lewis explained. "And the teeth are the most durable structure in the human body. They can be destroyed, but it is extremely unlikely."

Beckstead told of the creation of the teams, and credited chief coroner's investigator Bob Cole and Coroner Paul B. Jensen for helping encourage the effort.

Beckstead said, "Bob Cole and I talked about this a few years ago. If it wasn't for him, none of this would have happened."

He said that the relationship which has been developed between the dentists and the coroner's office might result in the creation of dentists as reserve coroners. He noted that to stay qualified, the dentists must participate with the deputy coroner investigations for a certain number of hours each year.

"If we had a disaster right now, we'd be ready," Beckstead said.

Why do he and the other dentists donate their time?

"For the challenge of making the identification," Beckstead said.

At this week's San Francisco Scientific Session of the California Dental Association, Dr. Gerald Vale and a team of experts in dental-legal investigation, highlighted the very subject matter which Beckstead, Lewis, Giles and the other dentists have actively been pursuing for 19 months.

"The reason that we haven't tooted our horn is that we wanted to remain in the background because so many involved homicide cases," Dr. Beckstead said.

"With Vale and his article (a public relations release), we felt it was time that we surface to be recognized as existing."

Expeditions to be Re-enacted

Tiger Will Lead March Walk-a-Thon

San Mateo's neighbors across the bay have asked to get in on the re-enactment of the historic De Anza and Moraga expeditions of 200 years ago, which means some replanning, its San Mateo County leader said today.

Originally, the trek of the 20 uniformed horsemen under Juan Batista De Anza in 1776, and of 240 soldiers, wives and families under Moraga the same year, was to be simulated, county by county, from Mexico to San Francisco on the anniversary days next year.

De Anza went through the county in one day — March 27. Moraga took three — June 24, 25 and 26.

San Mateo has been developing a troupe of horsemen, wearing authentic Spanish uniforms "correct right down to the button" to simulate the De Anza ride, from Santa Clara line to San Francisco, where a similar team will conduct elaborate pageantry.

The San Mateo uniforms will be styled exactly like those of the San Francisco horse troop, which currently is debating whether to use brass or pewter buttons, Allan Lucas, San Mateo coordinator, said.

In San Francisco, elaborate rites will include making and raising a cross at the Presidio and at Ft. Point.

The uniforms include the familiar flat hat, blue coat, epaulettes, leather jerkin and accouterments familiar in historical movies. De Anza himself wore a blue, colonial-style uniform with blue tails, and a tri-cornered hat, Lucas said. He could not say who will portray De Anza at this time.

Although the march was to end in San Francisco, Lucas said, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties have now asked to join in the festivities.

They point out, he said, that after the Presidio experience, the Spanish leader led his troop back to San Mateo and then around the bay into the other counties, mapping them and gathering information.

The East Bay counties want to simulate that procedure, he said.

Meanwhile, Lucas said, the original route has been carefully researched the length of San Mateo County by a Canada College student team.

With the exception that it has had to skirt a number of building complexes now astride the original route, the new route is as faithful to the footsteps of De Anza and Moraga as can be made, Lucas said.

He noted that both routes are essentially the same. Numerous groups and individuals, he said, have already signified they will join in the trek.

In the case of De Anza, however, while horse groups will follow along, the uniformed 20 will ride alone, at the head of the expedition, Lucas said.

Mapping of the San Mateo County route was done by Colleen O'Neill and Chris Chilingarian, under the direction of California History class instructor Jim Steidel.

The two Redwood City women kept the proposed route as close to the original as possible, being forced at intervals to depart from it slightly because of buildings in some areas.

The San Mateo delegations will meet an expedition party from Santa Clara County at the county line — in this case the horse field at Stanford University, where the trek will be taken over and carried out as far as Daly City. Here a San Francisco party will pick it up.

Joint planning is being conducted by all three counties, with an active participant George Dean of Hillsborough, who heads the San Francisco delegation.

Barbershop Bash Slated For Temple

An old-fashioned barbershop quartet concert and ice cream social will be combined at the second annual Barbershop Bash at Temple United Methodist Church, Friday at 8 p.m.

Music will be provided by the Cable Car Chorus, the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

A free ice cream cone is included in the price of the tickets, which are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for those under 12 years.

Temple Church is at 19th Avenue and Junipero Serra Blvd., and can be reached on the 26, 28, and M lines.

A tiger will lead this year's March of Dimes "Miles for Children Walk-a-thon" in San Mateo Saturday, according to the National Foundation.

Mohan, the tiger, a resident of Marine World-Africa, U.S.A., will lead off when the march begins over a 20-mile route starting from San Mateo's Central Park at 8 a.m.

Walkers include the student body and staff of St. Matthew's Episcopal Day School and student representatives from all central San Mateo schools.

The walking, roller-skating, jogging and skateboarding marchers also include members of the "Campus After Dark" San Mateo youth organization, and the local chapter of Parents Without Partners.

One restaurant is providing free soft drinks along the route, and a savings and loan firm free frisbees for walkers to throw.

All who complete the 20-mile trek and who return $20 from donors or sponsors will receive tickets to attend the Grand National Rodeo with a friend, as guests of the Cow Palace.

Grand prizes include box seats and dinner with the Grand National stars, as well as stereo equipment.

HIYA KID

Shake Hands With a Real, Live Spiderman

By JANET PARKER

He's a menacing character in the comic books.

It must be the scaly red boots and gloves, the protruding black eyes and the stringy substance shooting from his wrists.

But the real-life Spiderman was on the Peninsula recently and he proved to be little more than a college boy from Ohio.

John McNamara, 26, was an unemployed actor when he read a trade magazine ad for the Spiderman role.

They wanted someone tall and thin with a deep voice and he thought he fit the role.

So he donned the Spiderman costume, and for two months he's been making the department store circuit in the Bay Area and Sacramento, promoting a series of Spiderman phonograph records.

The real-life Spiderman's most daring feat is signing autographs for kids.

In turn, he fends off comments like, "Shoot your web, spiderman" and "why don't you climb the walls."

"Spiderman is an escape into fantasy," the character's portrayor said. "But most of his problems are real problems. He's got a sick aunt or he's out of money. All sorts of garbage is coming down on his head. People can identify with him a lot more than Superman."

Spiderman, he said, also has romantic entanglements unlike Superman and his heroines are often killed by villains.

He defies such mysterious characters as Manwolf, Draco the King of Dragons and Madhatter of Manhattan — all the time shooting webs from special veins in his wrists.

McNamara's costume is without the web-shooting weapon but he occasionally substitutes some stringy substance for the children's outfit.

"Spiderman has redeeming social merit to it," he said. For example in the last episode of the 150th Spiderman edition, a printed Spanish page is included.

Another episode dealt with the concept of cloning, a scientific idea made popular by science fiction in which whole human bodies are created from a single part of the anatomy.

"Spiderman's a pretty scientific thing for a 6-year-old," he said. "It's science fiction but it's also science."

That's why, he said, Spiderman has been popular with the high school and college set.

Besides some verbal abuse, there are not too many problems for Spiderman.

He does need someone to zip up his costume, a duty which he hopes a Spiderwoman can be hired to fulfill, he said.

"The thing is, Spiderman doesn't always win. Superman is a kind of black and white comic book. Spiderman is much more in the traditional good fiction. There's not just good and evil, Spiderman deals with real problems."

"He just happens to a guy that was bitten by a radioactive spider in high school," McNamara said.

After leaving the order, Mrs. Vicerra worked as a community education specialist for the International Institute of San Francisco, where she developed and initiated a community English in Action program for non-English-speaking groups.

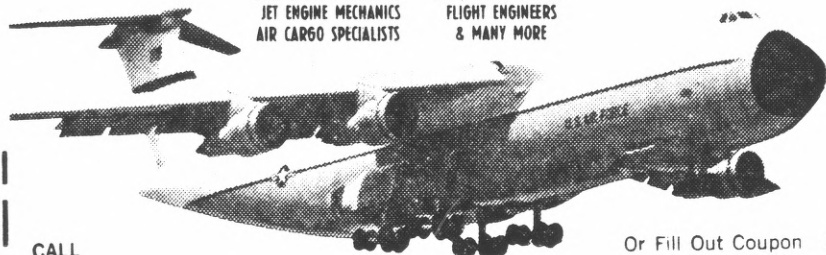

She obtained her bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College in 1970, and earned a master's degree in social work and gerontology at the University of California, Berkeley, in 1973.

WORKED TO GET AUDIENCES

"Our opening night invitations go out to taxicab drivers, hair dressers, press, government officials, anyone who'll talk about the show to a lot of other people." Ron House, one of the producers-actors-writers of "Bullshot Crummond," told me on the five-month anniversary of the show currently playing at the new Hippodrome Theater in San Francisco.

"And during the remainder of the run, we work at getting audiences by contacting tour groups, clubs, schools and sending out hundreds of letters. Inviting the consular corps paid off too. The rights to the show have been sold to producers in Auckland, N.Z.

The hysterically funny, original farce, a take-off on the pulp novels featuring Bullshot Crummond, is the zany brain-child of House, Diz White, Alan Shearman who all appear nightly at the 412 Broadway stage and two others not in the show. The troupe was working on it last year during a long run of their equally nutty revue, "El Grande De Coca Cola."

Their peculiar sense of humor has captured the imagination of producers around the world. Since selling the "Coca Cola" rights to drama publisher Samuel French, there have been 25 productions done in the United States. "Bullshot Crummond" has been staged at the Energy Theater, New Orleans, and Playhouse-In-The-Square, Cleveland, where "Coca Cola" also ran for four months. Deals are pending for New Brunswick, Canada, in Vancouver and Los Angeles.

To break the routine of a long run with each member of the cast doubling as publicist, house manager, secretary, understudy and a dozen other services that keep a show going, the cast is mapping out a future show with the tentative title of "Dating Without Tears," based on an obscure book written by a woman "with strange ideas about dating behavior."

"We've already worked up some sketches to do at clubs based on this idea. One involves a guy who plays a record that teaches him how to start conversations, how to do the latest 'trendy' dances and what subjects are taboo while visiting with your date's parents. You can be rude and insulting, gauche and impolite, but one subject on which all families are fanatically loyal is the clarity of their television set.

"The show has caught on here, but we don't want to get static. Through Francis Ford Coppola, one of our backers, scouts and TV producers came up from Hollywood to see the show with the idea of maybe our doing a half-hour weekly TV series. They say, 'that's nice' and go back down south and we never hear from them again."

House's biggest concern is that he doesn't have enough time in the day to develop other projects. He would like to obtain a grant to give him time to write new material, complete several half-written scenarios and raise money for a future show.

"I'd like to get city funding to enable old age pensioners, war veterans and children from the ghettos to come to the show. That's an audience that normally wouldn't go to the theater.

"I'm an American citizen, but I had no trouble getting grants in England. The thing is, we want to live in San Francisco and make it our home base.

"To get a government grant in this country you have to pay $14,000 to an expert who knows how to write the complicated applications. I never meant to come to San Francisco and run a commercial theater operation, but it takes a good deal of capital every week to keep the show running and that end of the business takes a lot of time and energy I should be putting elsewhere.

"But being your own producer has a lot of advantages. I'm my own man and not subject to the whims of a producer. We went that way in New York and it was disastrous. If those New York producers had put more effort into handling the 'Coca Cola' show better, it would still be running now."

They call themselves the Low Moan Spectacular because it was the name of a revue they once wrote and they became known as the Low Moaners. Everything they do is a little kinky, as anyone who saw "Coca Cola" or "Bullshot" will tell you. They're a uniquely original group who excel at inventive, high-camp satire.

Kids' Festival Due in Bruno

A children's festival featuring four performances by the Pickle Family Circus have been set for Oct. 18 and 19 at Belle Air School in San Bruno.

The festival, sponsored by the Child Care Coordinating Council of San Mateo County, will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, with circus performances at noon and 3 p.m. each day.

Child care organizations from all over the county will operate games and food concessions, along with exhibits of services they provide. Proceeds will go toward their activities.

The festival is free. Tickets for the circus may be obtained from the CCCC, 1443 Howard Ave., Burlingame; United Methodist Church in Burlingame; the Pacifica Beaches, Parks and Recreation Department office, 170 Santa Maria Ave.; Probe Community Center, 2615 Fair Oaks Ave., Redwood City; Lawrence Early Childhood Center, Third and Fremont, San Mateo; The Carey School, 2101 Alameda de las Pulgas, San Mateo; and the YWCA, 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Mail orders should be by back to the Pickle Family Circus, P.O. Box 11204, San Francisco 94101, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Daly City Herald

Amphlett Printing Company is introducing a new newspaper, the DALY CITY HERALD, which is a weekly publication delivered on Saturdays to Daly City residents. The DALY CITY HERALD is a sister publication of The Times, the San Bruno Herald, The Recorder-Progress, the Coastside Chronicle and The Post.

Although The DALY CITY HERALD is a new publication, readers will recognize many familiar by-line names of veteran reporters that they have enjoyed reading in other Amphlett Printing Company newspapers. Will Thomas will supervise the editorial production of the DALY CITY HERALD. Contributing staff by-liners will be: Frank LaPierre, John Horgan, Rick Sullivan, Duane Sandul, Bob Peterson, Bob Hemingway, Janet Parker and George Golding.

If you are a Daly City resident, watch for this new publication which will provide the same quality of product and service that San Mateo County residents have enjoyed for 86 years from Amphlett Printing Company's newspapers and their predecessors.

ADVERTISER'S BONUS!

This 20,000 "bonus" circulation should make The Times/San Bruno Publications combination an excellent package for advertisers who desire a high percentage of coverage and readership in central and northern San Mateo County. The Times provides 60% readership by all adults in The Times' City Zone (Millbrae, Burlingame, Hillsborough, San Mateo, Foster City and Belmont) plus an additional 12,000 circulation in other areas of San Mateo County. The San Bruno Publications have achieved 58% readership in their current circulation area and anticipate similar acceptance and readership in the expanded coverage area.

The San Bruno Publications have been distinguished in recent years by both the California Newspaper Publishers' Association and the California Newspaper Advertising Executives' Association with five awards in statewide competition.

Recent CNPA awards were: First Place for Best Typography, Second Place for Best Use of Color in Advertising. Recent CNAEA awards were one First Place and two Second Place awards for General Excellence in Advertising.

NEWSPAPERS, THE DAILY BARGAIN

If you're going to spend money advertising, advertise where you get the most for your money.

The 10¢ coupon is worth more in '75. At least 78% of the people are cutting costs with newspaper coupons.

When asked where they look for the best buys in groceries, meat or produce, 82% of food shoppers said, "newspapers". 9% said radio. 4% said TV. 1% said magazines.

Grocery store chains invest 62% of their advertising budget where people shop 3 to 1 over any other medium. The daily newspaper.

Out of 18,000 interviewed: 75% check daily newspapers for food prices.

When you're selling everything from soup to nuts, not even a full week of TV commercials can match the scope or impact of a daily newspaper ad.

9 out of 10 people see newspaper food ads each week. At least 7 buy the food advertised.

Source: 18,000 interviews consumer survey conducted for the Newspaper Advertising Bureau

ROP COLOR

ROP Color makes food advertising even more effective. Many advertisers report that the increased readership and sales produced by color advertising makes it a profitable investment.

The Times has just introduced a new frequency discount contract available to ROP Color advertisers that makes ROP Color advertising even more attractive. For example, run 12 ROP Color ads per year and receive 1 Color Premium FREE. See your Times' representative for complete details.

The Adults in The Times' City Zone Market Speak Out for The Times!

THE TIMES has the largest daily newspaper audience, 60% of all adults.

Newspapers are the Number 1 grocery advertising medium, 3 out of 4 adults refer to grocery ads in the newspaper.

THE TIMES is the Number 1 preferred newspaper for grocery advertising, over 90% of those who refer to grocery ads, refer to The Times.

THE TIMES was rated "most helpful" for grocery shopping by a margin of more than 12 to 1 over any other daily newspaper.

Kick-off Set for Hospital Campaign

Welcome Children's Library Teachers

For GV Services Expanded

The fund drive campaign to raise money for the Mary's Help Hospital expansion program is progressing well, according to Charles K. Turner, Daly City chairman.

"Results to date have been very encouraging," said Turner, "and we have every expectation of achieving our objective, with the assistance of new volunteers in phase two."

Turner added that close to $2 million toward an overall goal of $5 million has been raised from community sources within the hospital's service area.

In addition, the Daly City steering committee, which includes Turner, Edward King, Frank Pacelli, Jim Sargen, Frank Spadarelli and Nanda Stewart, are already organizing the second phase of the campaign.

An orientation meeting will be held to kick off "Phase Two, Daly City" on Thursday at Mary's Help Hospital at 7 p.m.

The multi-million dollar expansion program will furnish urgently needed ambulatory care center and ancillary service space to Daly City residents and the growth of the last ten years.

According to Turner, volunteers are still needed to participate in the Daly City Division.

"We have raised some money," said Turner, "but our goal will not be reached without the help of all Daly City residents. We still need volunteer workers for our second phase of this vitally needed community effort."

Interested residents should contact Charles K. Turner, First National Bank of Daly City, 992-8800.

Teachers

The teachers of Garden Village were welcomed back by the PTA at a luncheon held in the school's library on Sept. 26.

A variety of salads, cold cuts, punch and cake all prepared by board members, made a delicious meal.

Mrs. Shannon Kelley, who was chairwoman of the event, and her committee followed a fall theme for decorations.

There to welcome Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. H. Hemington, Dr. Earl Neilson, Dr. Jerry House and and Chris Westpahl of the JESD and Mrs. Walter Schultz, Jefferson Council of PTAs president, were Mrs. Eleanor Zenovich, Garden Village principal, and Mrs. Ray Farnsworth, GV PTA president.

During the earlier "Welcome Tea" for the kindergarten mothers, Mrs. Zenovich and Mrs. Farnsworth and other board members also were on hand to serve cake and coffee. Mrs. Richard Tucker was chairman of that event.

On Oct. 16 will be the school's "Back to School Night."

The Westlake Library is expanding its children's services for the coming school year, according to Chief Librarian Samuel Chandler.

Listed below are the various activities it will sponsor, their dates, and their times. All activities will take place in the Choral Room and there is no charge for any of them.

Sign up beforehand for each activity with the children's librarian, Mrs. Hunsicker.

Service at Health Center

Dental care is available at Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center five days a week, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. For an appointment call 755-7740. In photo are (from left) Dr. Marie Skelley, a patient, and dental assistant, Anita Alston.

Suicide Prevention Center Planning Training Program

"We work for free — the pay is great," has become the motto of over 100 crisis volunteers at the Suicide Prevention Center of San Mateo County, now planning its 29th consecutive training program for volunteers.

"We invite persons seeking a new challenge, wanting to serve in a helping capacity, and willing to put in a minimum of four hours a week to join us in this tremendously rewarding service," said Charlotte Ross, executive director of the Center.

Applications are now being accepted for the training class which consists of five all-day Saturday sessions, commencing Nov. 8 and continuing on Nov. 15 and 22 and Dec. 6 and 13. Conducted three times a year, the class is limited to 20 participants.

The sessions are held at the Center, 274 West 20th Avenue, San Mateo, and provide intensive training in crisis intervention, communication and counseling skills, referral information and an understanding of suicide and depression. The instructional staff includes a psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric social worker, physician, chaplain and members of the Center staff.

Interested volunteers need have no previous professional experience," said Ms. Ross. "It's their sincerity, maturity and desire to become involved in helping others that's important."

Once the training period is completed, SPC volunteers staff the 24-hour-a-day telephone crisis line, a drop-in center, triage and emergency outreach services.

All interested persons should contact the Suicide Prevention Center at 349-HOPE for further information regarding application procedures.

The Suicide Prevention Center is accredited for field placement of students by a number of Bay Area universities, including Stanford, San Francisco State, the University of San Francisco, the California School of Professional Psychology and the University of California at Santa Cruz. Students so placed are required to participate in the volunteer training sessions.

Founded in 1968, the Center now handles an average of 1,500 calls each month from people who are depressed, suicidal or just don't know where else to turn for help. The number of calls, illustrates both the severity of the suicide problem in San Mateo County, and the frequency with which people turn to the Center for assistance in a great variety of crisis situations.

Telstars Meet Friday

The Telstars Jr. Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, will feature a big membership drive at activity night on Friday from 7-9:30 p.m. at the Westmoor High School Girls Gym.

Activities will include co-rec volleyball, ping pong, basketball, war ball, record player for dancing and refreshments.

Daly City seventh and eighth graders who wish to join the club for a full year of exciting recreational activities should bring a completed membership form and the $1 fee.

Telstar events during the year will be planned by the teen council under guidance from Recreation Department Teen Advisors.

Activities will include dances, activity-game nights, swim nites, skating trips, a snow trip, beach parties and more.

Membership applications will be available at Daly City Parks and Playgrounds and at Fernando Rivera and Benjamin Franklin Jr. High Schools.

Flu Shots

For Seniors

Additional flu clinics have been planned in October for senior citizens 60 and over who missed the September series of clinics.

The clinics are also open to any resident who suffers from chronic heart and lung ailments.

Dr. James Bodie, director of the public health division, urges all seniors to take advantage of these clinics before the flu season.

Guadalupe Health center, 75 Wellington, Daly City, will offer shots Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 9-10 a.m., through Oct. 15.

There is a fee of $1 for all clinics and those allergic to eggs should not receive the shot.

WRA Meetings

Held in S. M.

Each Tuesday

A "film and discussion" series of meetings for those concerned with alcoholism is held each Tuesday afternoon and evening by the Women's Rehabilitation Association.

Sessions are held at the Association's headquarters, 181 Second Ave., San Mateo, at 3:30 p.m. and at 7 p.m.

Roberta Rasmussen of the Association said the sessions normally include showing of a film, then discussion by counselors or other experts on problems related to drinking.

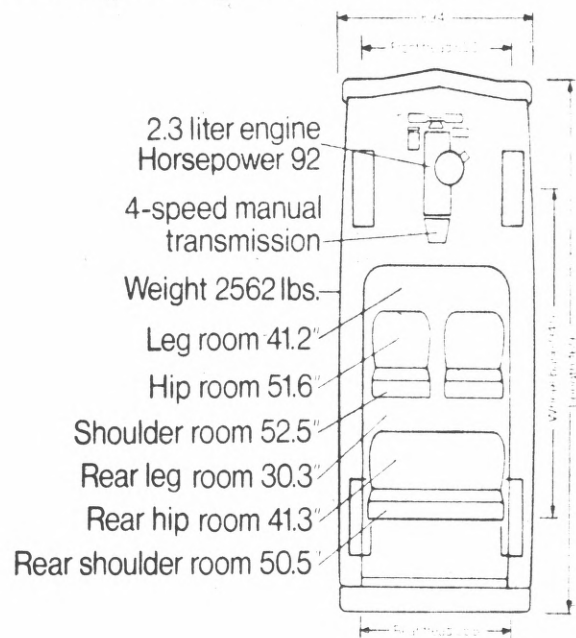

"We welcome people who question their own use of alcohol," she said, "as well as other professionals."

The Association, she said, "is an agency that works with women, through group and individual counseling in a residence home and as outpatients, and with a variety of techniques."

No matter where you go these days, Americans are preparing for the Bicentennial. Even at last weekend's American Rose Society's district Rose Conference, hosted by the San Mateo County Rose Society, Lyle Richardson and Steve Vario, a singing team, sang their new Bicentennial Song, "I Love America," which they had composed and written for their 1976 Washington, D.C., engagement. The rosarians loved it.

Gardeners can also celebrate the Spirit of '76 in a personal way by planting a Bicentennial garden. Your family, friends and neighbors will be delighted when spring comes and your garden blooms into a glorious red, white and blue tribute to our independence with tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and miscellaneous bulbs.

It's really quite easy to do. Just decide and buy the spring flowering bulbs you want to use and place them in the vegetable compartment of your refrigerator for a six-week cooling period before planting, then set the bulbs to form a bed of your own design.

As to the flowers themselves, hyacinths are a fitting flower to celebrate with, due to their uniform and compact shape and their enchanting fragrance which is the very scent of spring.

They are a particularly good flower for the Bicentennial because Holland's expert hybridizers have skillfully developed the red, white and blue varieties. There are also some excellent pastels of yellow, pink and orange to choose from.

Daffodils are also wonderful flowers to help celebrate our 200th birthday, by proclaiming the spring of '76 enthusiastically with white and golden trumpets. But the familiar trumpet is only one of a number of shapes and sizes of daffodils which can decorate the landscape luxuriously. You can also plant the pinks and limes, along with the yellows and whites, in random patterns and irregular drifts to bloom into the carefree and natural look of our country's earlier days. In addition, there are many pure white daffodils and some white varieties have red cups which are ideal for red, white and blue designs.

Tulips a Must
A must for any Bicentennial celebration is the tulip. This strong and stately symbol, with its melting pot of colors, pinnacle of form, and its own proud heritage is a fitting tribute to the spirit of our forefathers. As well as the glorious reds, whites and blues, tulips blossom in a rainbow of other colors. And, for a special patriotic touch, there are bi-colored and tri-colored tulips, streaked, striped, shaded and even tinted tulips. They flower in a host of shapes, from the classic goblet, to tulips with lacinated petals, fringed petals, curled petals and even bloom at different times. Try to stay with the same type of bulb, and get it in the three different colors. If working with hyacinths, use all Dutch hyacinths, or if you are displayed with a colored picture of the flower so the buyer can come close to getting just the shade of color he desires.

Regardless of whether you plan a Bicentennial display or just want to add to your bulb planting, buy your bulbs as soon as possible. Most of our local nurseries have their bulbs in now so the selection is at its best. Also, the sooner the bulbs are placed in the refrigerator the better and they have much better blooms when they have been given a good chilling.

Speaking of designs, there are a great many patriotic patterns that can be created with flowers. The easy way is to simply plant squares or stripes of reds, whites and blues throughout the garden, along borders, in rockeries and by steps. If you wish to get fancy get some heavy white string and some stakes to outline a pattern and follow the lines by filling in with selected bulbs. Here are some patterns that really tell a story:

The Liberty Bell is an excellent pattern to celebrate our independence; it can be outlined in gold and filled in with one-third red, one-third white and one-third blue. The crack can be purple and the clanger gold.

A cannon will make a very interesting design. The barrel should be blue, the wheel white and the base red. If you prefer a fancier cannon, divide the wheel into three sections, red, white and blue.

An emblem is quite an eye-catcher. Fill in the top with gold and the three different sections in red, white and blue. Each section can be outlined in gold.

An eagle pattern is a bit more daring and is, perhaps, the most difficult. Beginning gardeners should possibly try one of the other designs. Outline the eagle carefully and fill it in with red, white, blue and gold in the sections you desire. The bottom, though, should be red, white and blue.

Plan your salute ahead, get your bulbs in the refrigerator and check the soil in the area to be planted to make sure it drains well. If it has a great deal of clay or adobe, add sand, vermiculite or compost to a depth of 12 to 18 inches. If your soil is too sandy, add peat or compost.

Since each bulb contains its own food supply (we put a tablespoon of magamp around each bulb anyway), all you have to do after planting is to water them regularly until the rains come and wait through the winter.

Le Pacini

As we write this, the Giants are in limbo, which is another way of saying they're in San Francisco. By the time this is published, the Giants may be in Seattle or Toronto or in Guam, but we doubt it very much. We doubt that they'll be any place but Candlestick in 1976.

This conclusion isn't, we don't believe, wishful thinking, even though we know Seattle to be a good baseball town that undoubtedly will be enhanced by a domed stadium. It's just that we feel San Francisco is, always has been and always will be a better baseball town. And we think that the National League, especially Chub Feeney, and more especially Walter O'Malley, Feeney's unofficial assistant National League president, also believe that.

We think they know, as we feel, that if the Giants moved, there soon would be a clamor and a need for another major league team in this area, and so what would be the percentage in moving an already established product out?

This is no time to panic. Baseball as a game runs in cycles, and baseball in different areas runs in cycles. That's history and you can look it up. The Giants have been in a down cycle, and now we feel that they are about to begin to surface. They've only been down twice, you know, and it takes three times to drown. We think the National League is about to toss the Giants a life preserver to prevent that third submersion.

We still bet that if either of the two Bay Area big league teams move, it will be Oakland; the most logical move being to Chicago, and the White Sox thence to Seattle, and then everybody would be happy and an exciting young Giant team armed with, hopefully, a front office face lift and altered philosophy, would be able to play winning baseball without that black cloud of uncertainty that currently hangs over Candlestick.

Feeney said recently, that, in effect, if all else fails, the National League would consider financial aid for the Giants. He was running a bold bluff on Charley Finley, hoping that Charley would change his vulture's flight pattern and wing off to Seattle or Chicago and quit bothering O'Malley and Stoneham.

MEANWHILE, if you insist on being pessimistic, you had better find an old newspaper and copy down the Giants lineup on the last day they played at Candlestick this season. You could use it in a trivia quiz someday, like one we are about to lay on you. In the interests of nostalgia and trivia, can you name the lineup for the Seals in the second game of the doubleheader against Sacramento on the last game of the 1967 season which was the last game San Francisco ever played in the PCL?

If you're confused about diminutive Albie Pearson listed as pitcher, when you remember him as a right fielder who later spent several seasons with the Angels, it's because it was fool-around day, as you can tell by the retired Gordon leading off and Haywood Sullivan, a big catcher, playing center. The Seals had already clinched the pennant, and anything went that day, so Pearson pitched the first inning, then played every position in the infield.

Plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas, now a National League ump, took umbrage at a remark Gordon made about his calls behind the plate, and invited Gordon to umpire, which Joe did. Pelekoudas then briefly took the mound for Sacramento, and threw one pitch.

In the last inning, Sacramento manager Tommy Heath, the bald round man who had at one time managed the Seals, ran for Gordon, who had doubled.

Attendance that day was, incidentally, 15,484, which is just about what it was on the last game the Giants played at Candlestick, and we hope that isn't a bad omen. By the way, the Seals lost both ends of that twin bill, 5-4, 14-7.

GIANTS' GOSSIP: More or less reliable sources inform us that, Jim Barr's tirade notwithstanding, this year's clubhouse may have been the most relaxed clubhouse since the Giants have been in San Francisco.

The credit goes to manager Wes Westrum (who, by the time this is printed, will almost certainly be, ironically, former manager Wes Westrum), who is a nice guy and a good manager, and who plays it loose with the New Breed, something Charley Fox (who, we hear, is on his way to Minnesota in some capacity) never learned to do.

A few weeks ago we mentioned that Steve Ontiveros and Darrel Thomas were so weak batting from the right side that they would have nothing to lose by forgetting the switching and concentrating on swinging lefty. We now have word that management has told Ontiveros next season he'll be a southpaw hitter, period. One down, one to go.

We recently questioned why the Giants didn't play Marc Hill (for whom they had traded high) more often to learn whether or not he could cut it as a regular catcher in the big leagues. A source tells us that already was decided weeks ago, i.e., Hill can't do it. He handles pitchers poorly, and except for his arm, is, generally, just not a good player. In other words, the Giants are accepting the fact that they made a bad trade, that the Cardinals perhaps snookered them, knew something that none of the newspapermen knew who had been touting him as one of the brightest catching prospects in years.

In the meantime, the Giants don't feel too badly, because Elias Sosa and Ken Rudolph, who went to the Cards for Hill, didn't do anything to distinguish the trade for St. Louis. Sosa didn't even last out the season with them, being traded to the Braves, for whom he pitched just as poorly as he had with the Cards. And Rudolph, of course, played hardly at all, as would have been Hill's fate with St. Louis, because of the presence of Ted Simmons, one of the best and most durable three or four catchers in the game.

AS WE MENTIONED recently, if you live long enough, you always find someone or some group who agrees with you. Like, for five years, since Bowie Kuhn decided to return All-Star Game voting to the fans, we've been searching for somebody who agreed with us that the fans shouldn't do it.

Last month, the Sporting News ended our search by informing its readers that, after a questionnaire which drew a response of more than 1,000 readers, the fans themselves, ironically, feel that they should not vote for All Stars, but that the players should.

The Sporting News reported that the vote for players to determine the All Stars was "overwhelming," as approximately three-quarters of the respondents voted against themselves as All Star experts.

FOOTBALL TRIVIA: The sacking of Bubba Smith by the Raiders, which may have been poetic justice, considering the number of times Smith sacked Oakland quarterbacks when he was in his prime with Baltimore, reminded us of an interesting piece of trivia.

Smith was the first player chosen in 1967's first combined player selection between the NFL and the AFL.

Gardening

pointed petals. Some have tiny flowers, while others produce blooms as large as a man's hand. Some are only a few inches tall, while others soar majestically to three feet high. Almost any Bicentennial effect that you wish to create can be achieved with tulips.

Additional bulb-flowers, like miscellaneous bulbs, are also available to produce red, white and blue blooms. Fritillaria Imperialis blossoms in red; crocus, muscari and anemone blanda come in blue and white; and scilla and chionodoxa flower in blue. With the exception of the Fritillaria Imperialis, all are low-growing flowers that can be used as a blanket of color under a bed of contrasting colored tulips and daffodils. They also make particularly good borders to surround your commemorative planting.

Remember that different kinds and types of bulbs want a more graceful effect choose all Roman hyacinths. The same is true of tulips. The Darwin tulips are late flowering, they have clear, beautiful colors that are a delight. Duke of Wellington is pure white, Charles Needham has brilliant scarlet flowers and Bleu Aimable is about the best but it is tinged with heliotrope.

Don't mix the Darwin hybrids with the regular Darwins or you will be disappointed as they usually bloom at a different time. Colors here will be no problem as the hybrids are displayed with color pictures of each variety in the nurseries. The Darwin hybrids bloom ahead of the regular Darwins.

Lily-Flowered Graceful

We favor the lily-flowered tulips as they are less stiff and much more delicate looking, even though they are just as sturdy as the Darwin hybrids. These also eliminate weeds, but they require one year or more to really accomplish their work. The best green manure crop for home gardeners is inexpensive annual ryegrass. Annual ryegrass planted now will not reduce your vegetable harvest this fall, but it will provide a thick stand of lush green grass which will die and decompose over the winter adding valuable nutrients and organic matter to the soil. It's great to add organic matter to your garden soil in the fall, but avoid digging in potato peels and leaves of old tomatoes. Potatoes can leave verticillium organisms in the soil to attack next year's crop and tomatoes can add bacterial spot and canker. Digging in spent cabbage and turnips can add Black Leg and Black Rot to your disease problems.

Elm Ailment Club Topic

The Men's Garden Club of San Mateo County will hear about the dreaded "Dutch Elm Disease" from Agricultural Extension Service Farm Adviser David Hanson of the Half Moon Bay office. The dinner meeting will be held Oct. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Black Angus restaurant, Ninth and Railroad Avenues, San Mateo.

In addition to his main subject, Hanson will discuss bulbs, bulb culture and winter gardening.

Any man wishing to attend the meeting and hear Hanson is welcome. A reservation may be had by contacting Membership Chairman, Robert Goldberg, 754 Costa Rica Ave., San Mateo 94402.

State Court Disbars Atty. Richard Lyons

Hillsborough attorney Richard Patrick Lyons, convicted of felony embezzlement in 1972, was disbarred Tuesday by the California Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court ruling followed the recommendation of the disciplinary board of the State Bar.

Lyons, a former city attorney for Millbrae and South San Francisco, was convicted in November, 1972, on five felony counts of embezzlement, involving the misuse of trust funds given into his care from probate accounts.

According to records, the district attorney's office began investigating Lyons in November, 1971, when a South San Francisco couple complained that they had not received $10,000 due them from the estate of their late son.

In January, 1973, Lyons was sentenced to 10 months in the county jail, a total of $5,500 in fines and three years' probation.

The Supreme Court noted the 57-year old attorney had completed his sentence in the county jail and had paid his fines. The court also declared that a crime which involves specific intent to defraud also involves moral turpitude.

Lyons' contention that because he had eventually repaid the money he had embezzled he should not be disbarred, was rejected by the court.

"Restitution was made merely as a matter of expediency and under pressure of criminal or disciplinary proceedings, and does not entitle the attorney to leniency," the court held.

Lyons has not practiced law since being temporarily suspended from practice in January 1973.

He has been a member of the State Bar since 1946.

His disbarment does not become effective until Oct. 29.

Lyons could not be reached for comment.

Try This for Better Vegetable Garden

Cool nights are with us bringing to mind the approach of fall and winter. Many crops can be planted in those bare spots in the vegetable garden at this time including late head lettuce, leaf lettuce, kale, miniature carrots and radishes.

For a better garden next spring, consider planting a fall cover crop of winter rye, buckwheat, annual ryegrass or alfalfa. These are called green manure crops because they supply nitrogen to the soil when tilled under as well as adding valuable organic matter to the soil.

Set out started plants of leaf lettuce, so that they will be ready for harvest during the holidays or just before. Evergreen head lettuce is a cold-tolerant strain of head lettuce which may be planted as seed in early October and then mulched for winter protection to give extremely early lettuce next spring. Evergreen head lettuce is the only lettuce at this time which is known to be capable of surviving through an Eastern winter.

Most leaf lettuce varieties still may be planted for another week or two. If you have a garden patch with good, loose, rich loam, try a plant of Baby-finger Nantes Carrots. Even shallow soil, 6 inches in depth is capable of growing these delicious carrots. These gourmet quality miniature carrots need very little space and may even be grown in pots. Extremely tender and tasty, they grow no longer than a king-sized cigarette. They need a loose soil high in organic matter for best results.

Radishes require loose soil, abundant moisture and only three weeks to grow to maturity. Scatter their seed in any small open space in the garden where reasonably good soil is found. Kale is a substitute for lettuce and is often grown in the fall to serve both this purpose and to act as a green manure crop for digging under at the end of the season.

Buckwheat and alfalfa are used in newly broken soil to eliminate weeds, but they require one year or more to really accomplish their work. The best green manure crop for home gardeners is inexpensive annual ryegrass. Annual ryegrass planted now will not reduce your vegetable harvest this fall, but it will provide a thick stand of lush green grass which will die and decompose over the winter adding valuable nutrients and organic matter to the soil.

It's great to add organic matter to your garden soil in the fall, but avoid digging in potato peels and leaves of old tomatoes. Potatoes can leave verticillium organisms in the soil to attack next year's crop and tomatoes can add bacterial spot and canker. Digging in spent cabbage and turnips can add Black Leg and Black Rot to your disease problems.

Tomatoes, Marigolds Tops in Popularity

The most popular flowers and vegetables sold through nurseries, garden centers and similar retail outlets have been the subject of a recent survey among bedding plant growers. Tomatoes and marigolds experienced the highest sales increases in the recent years in the poll conducted by Bedding Plants Inc., the international trade association of professional bedding plant growers. Members are dedicated to supplying the American home gardener with quality transplants, pot plants and other bedding plants.

Pepper plants, impatiens, large-flowered petunias and geraniums came in close seconds in the survey. Excellent ratings were also recorded for salvia (scarlet sage), cabbage, portulaca (moss rose), ageratum, small-flowered petunias, garden chrysanthemums, pansies and snapdragons.

Tomatoes — No. 1 Vegetable. Tomatoes are by far the "most popular vegetable bedding plant," apparently enjoying the movement towards home vegetable gardening. Plants are being bought by home gardeners many ways, from packs of six transplants to pot plants with flowers and fruit already formed. The top choices among flowers, especially marigolds which are the flowering annuals with the greatest sales increase, obviously reflect a demand among home gardeners for dependable, trouble-free varieties, combined with showiness. Both the dwarf French type and the taller, large-flowered marigolds are popular. The recently-developed high performance hybrid marigolds have accounted for a good share of this increased popularity.

U.S. Garden Club Elects President

Harold J. Parnham, the only living charter member of the 43-year-old Men's Garden Clubs of America, has been elevated to the presidency of the organization.

The new president was among the 10 delegates who met in Chicago on Sept. 26, 1972, and organized the existing men's garden clubs into a national affiliation. From the beginning conference of delegates from four midwest clubs, the organization has grown to 210 affiliated clubs and nearly 10,000 members.

Other officers elected to national posts to serve with Parnham include vice-presidents Luther J. Cooper Jr., Raleigh, N.C.; Arthur Trimble, Rochester, N.Y.; Delbert Dunbar, Toledo, Ohio; and H. J. Hulse, treasurer, Des Moines, Iowa.

Parnham, a retired landscape consultant and nurseryman, resides in Des Moines. The national headquarters is also located in Des Moines.

By JERRY LITRELL
Post Correspondent

Pre-game charges, counter-charges and high flowing emotions on either side should have made Friday afternoon's El Camino-Serramonte game a doozy. But when the dust had cleared the Regents, who dominated the action throughout, were lucky to escape with their first North Peninsula League victory in the season opener, 12-7.

The controversy began last year when El Camino protested the eligibility of fullback Skip Campbell. Bitter feuding ensued, Campbell was declared ineligible and the Regents had to forfeit their basketball season.

Even until game time Friday verbal jibes (such as Serramonte being called the "Hilton of the North" for allegedly boarding wandering athletes) abounded.

The emotions may have contributed to some skittishness. The Regents turned the ball over six times on fumbles and pass interceptions.

But Camino could get just 17 yards total offense while the Campbell brothers led an onslaught that ground up 275 yards. It was the turnovers, a Regent curse all year, that kept things tight for three-plus quarters.

Camino's lone drive, a two-play, 16-yard effort, culminated on a beautiful play by quarterback Al Kern. He Macawile and, just before the world collapsed on the fullback, Kern snatched the ball away, rolled right from the 12 and scored.

Skip Campbell, who was to fumble twice himself, got the Regents back in the game with a 25-yard scoring surge; he carried three blockers the final 11 yards to paydirt. Campbell fumbled on the one to end an 84-yard drive, but Serramonte's persistence finally paid off. Ken Campbell carried in from the two with eight minutes left in the game to end any Camino upset hopes.

Skip carried 34 times for 180 yards as the Regents racked up 19 first downs to just two for the Colts.

INTERFERENCE

Crestmoor defender Tony Young (24) cuts in front of Oakland High receiver in interception attempt in Friday's game. Oakland player clobbered Tony and was called for offensive pass interference. Crestmoor won, 20-6.

Falcons Yield First TD

Crestmoor High's football defense gave up its first touchdown in three games Friday.

Other than that, though, the Falcons didn't have much to be disappointed about after a 20-6 win over visiting Oakland to wind up a 3-0 practice season.

Paced by the hard running of Mike Mooney and John Maxoutopolis, Crestmoor ground out the victory with 214 total rushing yards on 49 attempts.

Mooney picked up 98 yards on 24 carries and scored twice on short runs. Maxoutopolis collected 72 yards on 14 tries.

The Falcons put together long drives on their first two possessions of the first half, but couldn't go all the way. They finally broke through at the end of the half.

Mooney went over from the three to climax a seven-play, 61-yard drive with under three minutes left.

After the kickoff, Oakland ran three plays and tried to punt. Crestmoor's Craig DeVolder broke through to block it and recover on Oakland's 20.

On the Falcons' first play, quarterback Larry Navilhon stepped back after a play-action fake and hit back Jeff Maxoutopolis behind the defense for a score.

Mooney went over from the five at the start of the fourth quarter to finish a six-play, 78-yard march, keyed by a 33-yard Mooney run.

Oakland (now 0-4) got its touchdown with about five minutes to go on a 76-yard run up the middle against Crestmoor reserves.

CSM Was Tough Against the Best

College of San Mateo's water polo team got some good news even while being eliminated from the NorCal Aquatic Federation Tournament Friday at West Valley College.

Rich Donner's Bulldogs, led by Dave Breen, put up a strong battle against Southern California's top team, Fullerton, before dropping the match 8-6. The good news is that CSM is definitely competitive.

In other matches CSM edged Cypress 8-7 and bombed Cabrillo 8-1. Dave Breen scored four goals against Fullerton and three against Cypress. Brother Jerry had five in the three matches.

S.I. Tips Burlingame Gridders

By STEVE JOHNSON

Two nightmarish breaks cost Burlingame High's football a shot at a dream upset Friday night at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

A pair of interceptions seconds apart late in the third quarter gave host St. Ignace two quick touchdowns and enough of a pad to outlast the Panthers 32-27.

Burlingame, which went 2-1 in non-league play, had the ball and its own 10 trailing 20-13 in the third period. Disaster time.

A pass over the middle was picked off and returned to Burlingame's two. SI scored on the next play.

The Panthers started from their 35 after the kickoff. Quarterback Rusty McDowell dropped back to pass. His throw was deflected into the air by an on rushing lineman; the ball was grabbed by another onrushing lineman for an easy TD return. Though Burlingame battled back well, a 19-point deficit was too big to make up.

McDowell drove the Panthers to a score following the two interceptions. He hit tight end Dan Williams with a 13-yard touchdown pass.

Fitzgerald Asks County Tax Agency Congress

By JANET PARKER

There are 92 taxing agencies in San Mateo County and James Fitzgerald thinks it's time those agencies coordinate.

So, the county supervisor from San Bruno wants to organize a "congress" of county elected officials, and soon.

"We haven't got all the money in the world and we'd better start planning. Otherwise, we're going to end up like New York City," Fitzgerald told The Times.

There's too much duplication and overlapping of services among the county's governing bodies and this congress might end some of that redundancy, he said.

As Fitzgerald sees it, representatives of the county's 33 school districts, 19 city councils, various special districts and county agencies, including the board of supervisors, would gather for a day-long session with legislative leaders from the state and federal government.

He tentatively has set that gathering for a Saturday in November.

Thereafter, representatives of those groups would meet on a quarterly basis.

"We would follow through with staff and legislative representatives doing whatever it would take to eliminate the waste of taxpayer's money," he said.

He said that presently, any individual agency might lower its tax rate but at the same time, another agency will raise its rate. The taxpayer just can't win, he says. Hopefully, he said, this congress can evaluate taxation and find ways to save county residents some money.

He's aiming for the day long meeting in November providing the county's assemblymen, senators and congressmen are available.

In order to bring the body to a workable level, he said, the quarterly congress meeting itself could be composed of a supervisor, a representative of the County Council of Mayors, a representative of the County School Boards Association, and a representative from each of special districts.

Fitzgerald said there are several reasons "the time is ripe" for this agency.

He's been contemplating its implementation for several years.

"The way it is now, the state is doing its thing, the county is doing its thing and schools are doing their thing," he said.

Some people, he said, advocate doing away with the 92 agencies and forming a single regional government.

For efficiency sake, he said, such a proposal may be valid.

However, it's the local bodies that are closest to the specific community issues and their opinion is necessary.

For the sake of coordination, the congress is needed to synchronize those necessary local bodies, he said.

The 92 agencies, Fitzgerald said, are comprised of 500 individuals. Naturally, he said, there will be a logistics problem in organizing those individuals.

But, he has been working on the congress idea from a lower level, first approaching the 33 school districts at a breakfast meeting and then to the city manager's association.

Through these kinds of meetings, he said, the bodies are identifying areas in which they can coordinate.

A major problem which the congress will want to concentrate on is the barge of state and federal mandated programs and services to which the city and county governments must comply and ultimately finance, Fitzgerald said.

The best thing that ever happened on an afternoon

Serra Scout Activities

The third annual scout flea market will be held Sunday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at A. P. Giannini Jr. High on 39th and Ortega.

To date, three Daly City units — Troop 50 meeting at Woodrow Wilson with Scoutmaster Nash Reyes, Troop 83 meeting at Vista Mar under Scoutmaster Hank Hansel and Pack 362 meeting at Vista with cubmaster Bill Smith, have reserved booth space.

A donation of 50 cents will be asked of all adults. The tickets have a coupon for $1 off at Shakeys Pizza. All proceeds will go to help defray the costs of scouting for the coming year.

ADULT SCOUTER training for the Serra District will be held Oct. 21 and 28 at A. P. Giannini Jr. High from 7:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

All leaders are encouraged to attend. Cub Scout training will be Oct. 22 and 29.

New ideas for skits, games, crafts along with den meeting and pack meeting training will be a part of the regularly scheduled meeting nights.

SERRA'S DISTRICT'S school night for scouting will be held on Oct. 16 from 7-9 p.m. at the following Daly City Schools: Westlake, Crocker, Abraham Lincoln, Roosevelt, Colma Elementary, Woodrow Wilson, George Washington, General Pershing, Vista Mar, Thomas Edison and J.F.K.

Any boy who has completed the second grade or is 8, 9 or 10 years old is eligible for the Cub Scouts.

By Scout requirements are completion of the fifth grade or 11 years of age or older.

Any boy interested in joining is asked to bring his parents with him when he signs up.

Officers Installed

Local 919, Daly City's chapter of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, held its annual installation dinner at the Red Chimney restaurant Sept. 26.

With 100 members and guests attending this event, the following officers were sworn in for one year of service to their membership.

President, George Saeger; Vice President, Sharon Henderson; Recording Secretary, Karen Cunningham; Corresponding Secretary, Lorraine McClay; Treasurer, Nadine Moreno; Executive Board, Russ Brabeck, Karen Knutsen, Maxine Gates; Sergeant at Arms, Bea Crary; Trustees, Kathy Honrado, Maria Cappa, Gus Urbach; Delegate to Council 57, COPE and Central Labor Council, Gus Urbach.

CAROL PATMORE

Seeking Nuclear Alternatives

'Project Survival'

By GEORGE GOLDING

Project Survival — the name is powerful and simple and the goal is equally simple, even if the arguments it arouses are complex.

The arguments are complicated and varied because the arguers are sophisticated, educated human beings, scientists, engineers, insurance men, attorneys and housewives.

Project Survival is one of a group of growing citizen organizations dedicated to demanding guaranteed safeguards, before committing the world, perhaps unilaterally, to the use of nuclear power.

The Sierra Club is interested, and so are the California Committee for Nuclear Safeguards, the California Citizen Action Group, Friends of the Earth, the People's Lobby, and People for Profit.

Many nuclear scientists agree that atomic energy is safe, but not all. Some of the leaders in the appeal for caution are among those who know the atom best. Others are more ordinary people.

Carol Patmore, blonde, pretty and bright, summarizes Project Survival's goal as educating people to the possible risks of unlimited use of atomic power.

Possible risks, long term potential hazards that might be irreversible, once we are committed to atomic power plants as we have been hooked on oil.

She says there is nothing so crucial that we can't take time out to examine thoroughly the possibilities.

If even the world's greatest scientists are ardently divided on the question of atomic power, she says, how can ordinary people take the word of power companies and governments that atomic power is safe?

That's what the Nuclear Safeguards Initiative is all about. It comes before California's voters next June.

Meanwhile, Carol Patmore of San Mateo, Phil Barry of Portola Valley, and others, are trying to tell Californians all there is to know about atomic power.

Thursday night Project Survival held an open public meeting in Redwood City at the Veterans Memorial Hall, to describe the options.

October 14 and 15 in Sacramento, Assemblyman Charles Warren's Committee on Energy and Diminishing Materials will conduct hearings on the Nuclear Safeguards Initiative.

This is a rare political move, since no legislative committee, nor the legislature itself, can alter a proposal approved for placement on the general election ballot.

Members of Project Survival say Warren took this step because of the importance of the subject: Shall California have atomic power, or are there alternatives?

Phil Barry says there are alternatives. In Portola Valley, he is building a new home utilizing solar power.

He says there is sufficient "geo-thermal" power in California to match projected needs through 1985, with no risk of nuclear involvement.

Barry comes on "sincere," formally suited like the insurance executive he is, tousle-haired like a Kennedy, direct in gaze and manner.

There are other alternatives, Barry says, safe options like windpower, solar power, geo-thermal energy, and alternate fuels that have not been developed.

In Japan, he says, the government is spending the equivalent of $7 billion on "Sunshine Project" to develop solar energy for use by its citizens.

Of course, Japanese are notably touchy on the subject of atomic energy. They have living memorials to its destructive powers.

Americans too are worried. In San Luis Obispo Oct. 17 and 18, 95 physicians are sponsoring a public educational forum to "explore the major issues."

This is a hot item in San Luis Obispo, because an atomic power plant has been designed for the county's most beautiful coastal harbor, Morro Bay, just over the hill.

EDWARD L. KELLY
Funeral services will be held at 11:30 a.m., Wednesday, for Edward L. Kelly, 58, of Rosita Road, Pacifica, who died in Daly City Oct. 4.

He was a member of the Irish Culture Club of San Francisco and the Henry Cox Lodge, F&AM, Stoughton, Mass. He was a veteran of the U.S. Navy.

Survivors include his widow, Mary of Pacifica; three daughters, Mrs. Donna Laky and Mary K. Kelly, both of Pacifica and Edwina Kelly of Hawaii; a brother, Thomas; two sisters, Marge Poe of Buffalo, N.Y., and Helen Haworth of Washington, D.C.; and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be at the Nauman & Lincoln Chapel by the Sea, Pacifica, with interment at Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Pacifica Proves Romantic Setting

Nick Gust's three restaurants, Nick's, Captain Charles and the breathtaking Moonraker, have been the surroundings for many proposals for couples appreciative of this romantic Rockaway Beach setting. But a "first" took place here one recent weekend when newlyweds Paula and Jerry Bostwick chose to be wed on the beachfront at Pacifica, with Rev. H. D. Hartkins of Pacifica officiating, and sweet Mary Ann Hay singing the "Hawaiian Wedding Song." The wedding party, all from Oroville, later enjoyed dinner in the banquet facilities at Nick's restaurant, and lodged overnight at the adjacent motel, also a Gust enterprise. The exotic Castaway at Coyote Point is ideal for company parties, social functions and banquets of all kinds. Lavish wedding receptions are also a specialty, with Manager Peter Bovenberg taking care of every detail including entertainment if so desired. Scotty Campbell's, a Redwood City landmark restaurant, has won numerous awards for cuisine and decor. And another plus is service. Mary Lou Fox' crew of attentive waitresses couldn't be more expertly trained. Open 365 nights from 4:30 p.m. with the exception of Sundays, when the doors open at 4 p.m.

Low-Priced Dinners Boom Stickney's Biz

Low-priced dinner specials from 4 to 7 p.m. now prevail at all of Adrian Stickney's Peninsula restaurants. The $3.95 dinners are available at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto Mondays through Saturdays, and at the Hickory Houses, Mondays through Thursdays. Dinners are served complete. Several fine restaurants along Highway 50, including Cindy's, Howard Johnson's and Sacramento's Colony Kitchen, are points of distribution for the valuable "traveler's coupon" valid at Barney's Casino in South Lake Tahoe. When validated upstairs at Barney's, the coupon offers a cash refund, a Keno bonus, a lucky "buck" and a special cocktail. For other bonuses and refunds, especially on one and two-night stays at South Shore, call Nevada Tours in San Mateo. A breakfast special is always available midnight to 11 a.m. at the South Tahoe Nugget. $1.25 buys a huge breakfast, which is just one of many enticements presented in the spacious restaurant of this bustling Stateline casino. Waitresses at Romano's in Rockaway Beach are especially proud of Enrico Romano's culinary philosophy: "Every item on the menu is prepared to order." This makes it easier to please the particular appetites of his steady patrons. Peach period is a toothsome finale to a gourmet steak dinner in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco. It's prepared to order at tableside by your waiter and served flambe in an exquisite silver stirrup cup.

Larry Black Clicks Big at Holiday Inn

Few solo entertainers have the drawing power of Larry Black, multi-talented singer-musician now entertaining in the lounge of the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. Judging from audience response, Larry may be a permanent lounge performer here. A tasty appetizer at Casa Caliente in San Mateo is Chile Pot Soup (Menudo). Other appealing before-dinner selections include Natchos and Quesadillas. The Cypress House in Half Moon Bay is now serving lunches seven days a week. Happy Hours prevail from 4:30 to 6 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Veteran musician Jimmy Ware will be fronting his new trio at the "Cocktail Dance of the Month" Sunday, Oct. 12 in the "Upstairs Room" at Beardsley's in Burlingame. The 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. dance fun is open to all and will feature "request music styles." Budget-conscious families will appreciate the money-saving coupon now being offered by Tanforan Park's Garden Restaurant. Worth 50 cents off on any purchase over one dollar, the coupon may be redeemed at any of the nine Garden Restaurants during the evening dinner hours, Monday through Friday. Fresh fruit salad is a popular luncheon treat at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco. It covers the spectrum of fresh fruit from strawberries, pineapple and papaya to mangoes, honeydew and crenshaw melons, cantaloupe, bananas and watermelon.

Agencies Seeking Volunteers

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS REHABILITATION CENTER - Volunteers to read a psychology textbook to a 25-year-old male victim of cerebral palsy who is taking a psychology course at the College of San Mateo.

ROLLINGWOOD ELEMENTARY SCHOOL - A person to teach Filipino dances to an elementary school class in San Bruno.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD ASSOCIATION - Clinicians in San Mateo. Volunteers will be trained to be interviewers, counselors, assistants to medical technicians and speakers for the education department. Volunteer clerical workers are also needed.

SUICIDE PREVENTION CENTER - Applications for training classes are now being accepted. Dates are Nov. 8, 15 and 22 and Dec. 6 and 13. Orientation runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on consecutive Saturdays.

U.S.O. - The San Francisco Center, which is located on Market Street, has requested single female volunteers between the ages of 18 to 25 to participate in community service, recreational and cultural programs.

YMCA - Persons who are interested in gymnastics are needed as gymnastic aides between 3:30 and 7 p.m. weekdays. Classes range from beginning to advanced.

AID TO VICTIMS AND WITNESSES - Volunteers to provide and comfort when needed. The agency provides support services to victims and witnesses of violent crimes. Extensive training and back-up support is provided.

Additional information about these and other volunteer jobs can be obtained from the Volunteer Bureau. The main office at 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame, is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. A branch office at Ampex Building 2, 940 Douglas Road, Redwood City, is open from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

The bureau is a project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County and shares in the United Way of the Bay Area.

RETROSPECTIVE EXHIBIT

A month-long retrospective exhibit of works by members of the Burlingame Writers will open Monday at the San Mateo County Historical Association Center on the campus of the College of San Mateo. Among members working on the event are (from left) Pauline Coleman, president, Gladys Cretan and Naomi Sellers. The exhibit will have the museum's Stanger Gallery as its setting and will feature both adult and juvenile books by women authors and media presentations of women journalists. The public has been invited to meet the author at a reception on Oct. 16 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the gallery. Newly published books by Mrs. Cretan and by Anne Alexander will be on display for the first time. Also working on the exhibit and reception are Hollis Norberg, Alice Strange, Dee Henri and Gay Kocmich.

Nominations for Awards Luncheon

The Girls' Club of the Mid-Peninsula is asking business, volunteer organizations, local government agencies and schools and colleges in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to select a woman to be honored at its Annual Awards Luncheon for Distinguished Women.

This year's luncheon is being sponsored by Lockheed Missiles and Space Company with Hewlett-Packard as cosponsor. It will take place on Oct. 23 at the Cabana Hyatt House in Palo Alto.

Proceeds will go to the Girls' Club of the Mid-Peninsula.

Organizations who have not received invitations to select an honoree or those wishing to purchase tickets for the luncheon can contact Jean Rice at Lockheed.

Alphaphonics Class Goes on Television

The Alphaphonics program for teaching reading will be the basis of a 13-week series of television classes for teachers and parents entitled "What Do You Expect." It will be produced by the California Instructional Television Consortium.

The half-hour program will be broadcast weekly at 6 a.m. Mondays on KRON-TV (Channel 4) and then rebroadcast at 3:30 p.m. Thursdays on KQED-TV (Channel 9).

College credit for the classes can be earned through San Francisco State University. Interested persons should contact Carol Johnson in the department of education.

Alphaphonics was developed by three primary teachers from Ponderosa School in South San Francisco, Jeanne Stout, Judy Brown and Gretchen Ross, with the encouragement of their principal, Dr. Lorene Jacobson. It recently was named one of 12 exceptional privately funded reading programs by the Right to Read effort of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
